MAN FOUND DEAD SATURDAY WAS HIGHWAYMAN, DECLARES SLAYER, AS HE SURRENDERS

Charlie Vismore, of Ivy Soda Co., Tells Police of Pistol Duel With Three Bandits, and Asserts That He Shot One of Them During the Fight.

WIFE OF SLAIN MAN BELIEVES THE STORY TOLD BY HIS SLAYER

"My Husband Has Been Wild, and I Am Confident He Was a Highwayman," Says Mrs. Gaines — Vismore Held Pending Probe. Frank Gaines Placed Under Arrest.

Instead of being held up and killed by highwaymen in front of 202 Courtland street Sunday morning at 1 o'clock, as was first supposed, detectives were informed Sunday that Eugene Gaines, 32-year-old resident of 80 McDaniel street, was one of the three men who attempted to hold up and rob Charlie Vismore, resident of 226 Courtland street. Vismore reported to police headquarters Sunday that he had been held up by three men and that he had shot one of them.

Vismore, who is proprietor of the Ivy Soda company, told detectives, they state, that he was on his way home shortly before 1 o'clock Sunday morning when he was accosted by three white men.

He claims that they told him to hold up his hands, and that when he refused to so, pulling a revolver instead, a pistol duel followed, in which one of them was shot.

BROTHER ARRESTED.

Frank Gaines, brother of Eugene Gaines, was arrested by City Detectives Starnes and Campbell Sunday morning. He is being held at police headquarters under the blanket charge of "suspicion" until the officers can locate the third man who was said to have been with the three highwaymen.

Mrs. Eugene Gaines, wife of the dead man, told a Constitution reporter about her husband and their lives during the past six years Sunday afternoon.

She stated that since she had known Eugene Gaines he had been wild, and that she was confident he and his brother Frank had been highwaymen ever since she first met him.

"Mr. Gaines and myself have been separated since March 5," said Mrs. Gaines. "The reason we separated was that he left Atlanta, going to Knoxville, where he pulled off some crooked work. I heard about it, and I know that he has often broken the law since I have been married to him.

FATHER IN PENITENTIARY.

"We were married six years ago. I have a little girl, Pauline, who is five years old. Her father was in the penitentiary when she was born and has been first in and out of trouble all of the time.

"His brother, Frank, was with him all the time, and there was another man, although I don't know who he was.

"My husband had a picture of himself at home, but just before this happened, he took the picture away. Stole it I think, knowing that something like this was coming up."

Police headquarters received a call shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday morning from City Detective Y. T. Allen, who stated that there had been a shooting scrape in front of his residence, 202 Courtland street, and that there was a man lying dead in his front yard.

KAISER MAY YIELD TO UNITED STATES AND QUALIFY ACT

Report From Ambassador Gerard Forecasting the Character of the German Reply Expected Hourly by Washington.

GERMAN REPLY EXPECTED TO DEAL WITH PRINCIPLES

Rather Than Specific Cases of Illegal Attacks by Submarines — Believed Germany May Offer to Use Submarines Only as Cruisers.

Washington, April 30.—Secretary Lansing said tonight he had no new dispatches from Germany bearing on the submarine situation, and that Ambassador Gerard had not reported on his conference with Emperor William. A report from Mr. Gerard is expected hourly and officials think it probably will forecast the German reply.

Information received tonight from German sources is to the effect that the Berlin government has considered replying to the American demand for the immediate abandonment of present methods of submarine warfare with an offer to have its submarines operate, at least temporarily, only as cruisers against enemy merchant ships. German officials are said to have expressed themselves as being favorable toward the plan. The state department so far as is known, has no information on the subject.

If the German reply has been drafted, official information on the subject is lacking. That a note will be sent by Berlin in preference to instructions to Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, is considered in German quarters to be certain. It is certain that the latter method of procedure at one time was considered by the German government. The idea was said to have been abandoned, however, because German officials in Berlin felt a note would serve all purposes more completely.

Germany May Qualify.

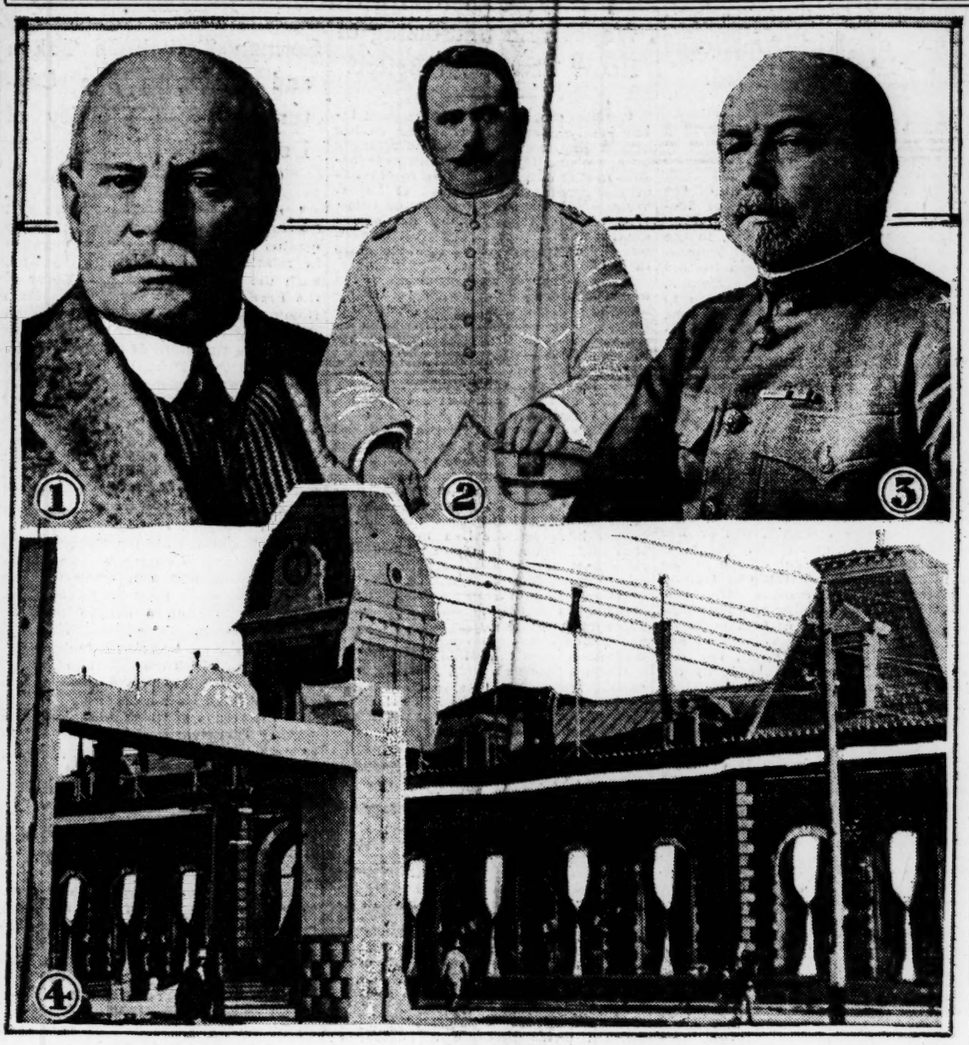

The American note calls upon Germany to immediately "declare and effect" an abandonment of existing submarine practices. In German quarters it is intimated that it is quite possible the Berlin government formally will so "declare and effect" and qualify the action with a statement that the declaration is to remain in effect pending final agreement over the principles involved. There is no indication whether such action would meet with the approval of the United States.

It was intimated at the state department soon after the American note was dispatched, however, that the United States might consent to further negotiations on the subject in the event of Germany declaring and effecting what the United States demands. It was made clear, however, that the demands would have to be acceded to first.

According to the advices from German sources, Berlin's reply is expected to deal with broad principles rather than specific cases of illegal attacks by German submarines. The specific cases, it is said, will be taken up later should

Scott and Funston Conferring With Obregon

Of greatest immediate interest in the Mexican situation is the outcome of the conference by Generals Scott and Funston, of the United States army, and General Obregon, minister of war in the Carranza government. General Obregon wants the United States to withdraw the troops from Mexico. He says the Villa forces are broken up and no longer a menace to either country and that Mexico is capable of taking care of them. Washington has announced its determination of remaining in Mexico until Villa is taken, dead or alive. The conference is being held in the custom house in Jaurez, Mexico. Mexicans pointed out that General Obregon's superior rank as minister of war for the Carranza government entitled him to the privilege of remaining on Mexican soil. The custom house is a large red brick building, standing in a block of its own on the main street of Juarez, only a short distance from the international bridge where General Scott held his famous conference with Villa. In El Paso Consul Andres Garcia prepared the consulate, to be ready for the conference if it should be decided to hold it on the American side. No. 1, General Scott; No. 2, General Obrebon; No. 3, General Funston; No. 4, custom house in Juarez.

Three Cities Hear Enrico Caruso Sing On Sunday Morning

Then Great Tenor Listened to His Own Voice as Phonograh Record Made in San Francisco Came Back Over Phone.

Enrico Caruso frowned upon ragtime, but got up at 4 a. m. Sunday to pose for the movies. This was not, however, until he and a camera man had participated in a match of wits that left the latter victorious, and will frame the famous tenor's features upon virtually every screen oh the continent.

It happened two hours before the mighty songster warbled over the telephone across the continent—to Washington, D. C., and San Francisco, Cal., where the press clubs of those cities were celebrating far into the morning. Applause that shot over thousands of miles of copper strands demanded an encore, which Caruso gave after he had rendered "The Rosary."

Caruso attended a dinner party at the Georgian Terrace Saturday night after his performance in" La Boheme" at the Auditorium-Armory. The party did not get under way until after midnight. Dancing began with the first course.

No Rag for Caruso.

Caruso sat at the table between two young society women. When the orchestra struck up the first tune, "I'm Simply Crazy About You," a popular dance ballad, Caruso was asked if he cared to one-step. His answer was a shrug of the shoulders, indicating a dislike of ragtime.

So he sat alone at his table while charming neighbors pirouted with society's gifted masters of the dance. Within an hour the great Caruso deserted the party and followed his secretary to his suite on the second floor of the Terrace. No rag time for him.

The tenor was scheduled to sing at 6:30 o'clock over the telephone. It would be about 4 o'clock in San Francisco.

An apartment adjoining his had been fitted up as a relaying room, with all the telephonic and telegraphic devices of a young central office, necessary each time such communication is established with the coast. The hotel was abuzz with comment over the long distance song.

An enterprising moving picture firm was anxious to "cover" this event. A camera man, Vincent Walker was sent at midnight to the Terrace. Other news weekly men also visited the hotel, but all being told that Caruso would not permit a "filing" of his song, went home to bed, leaving Walker alone on the job.

Camera Man on Job.

Came 4 o'clock. The party from which Caruso had departed was still in progress, as were other parties in the different restaurants of the Terrace. Determined to get Caruso's picture, Walker tapped an electric line near Caruso's door and strung the cable for the four mercury lamps that

TAKES POISON DOSE THROUGH MISTAKE

J. W. Harper Dies After Drinking Carbolic Acid, Under Impression That Bottle Contained Medicine.

Believing a bottle filled with carbolic acid was one which contained medicine, J. W. Harper, 67-year-old resident of 605 Washington street, drank the contents of a five-ounce bottle of the poison at his residence at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, and died exactly one hour later on the Grady operating table.

Mr. Harper had been troubled with a severe cough all during Saturday night and the early hours of Sunday morning.

Several days ago he had placed a bottle of cough medicine in the bottom of his trunk, which was in his bedroom.

Gets Wrong Bottle.

The cough becoming severe, at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, he rose and went to the trunk and reaching in pulled out a bottle which he thought was the one containing the medicine.

Within several minutes other occupants of the house, among them his wife, heard him groaning and went to investigate.

He told them that he had taken a bottle of medicine, and that it had started burning until he could hardly stand it. One of the roomers at the house smelled carbolic acid and the Grady hospital ambulance was called.

Although hospital physicians did everything in their power to aid the aged man he died within an hour from the time the ambulance was called.

Worked for Hospital.

Mr. Harper was a long-time resident of Atlanta. Fifteen years ago he drove one of the horse ambulances for the hospital in which he died.

Sunday, April 23, he was made an elder in the Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church. He was to be ordained Sunday.

Mr. Harper is survived by his wife and seven children, four sons, O. J., H. B. and W. O., of Atlanta, and J. M. Harper, of Dallas, Texas, and three daughters, Mrs. W. W. Holland, Mrs George Bray and Mrs. S. W. Castles, all of Atlanta.

The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Harry G. Poole. Funeral services will be held from the Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

D. L. ADAMS KILLED BESIDE WIFE IN BUGGY

West Point, Ga., April 30.—(Special.) David L. Adams, who was shot this afternoon while out driving, died tonight without having regained consciousness.

Mr. Adams was one of West Point's prominent business men and a highly respected citizen. His death has cast a gloom over the entire community.

Mr. Adams was driving with his wife in a buggy when a bullet passed through his hatband and entered his head. The source of the shot is unknown and it was accompanied by no sound except the whizzing of the bullet.

67,000 Drinks Sold In One Big Saloon Last "Wet" Week

"Let Every Man Get Busy, Look and Work for a Day of Resurrection," Reads Sign on Door of the Rex Saloon.

Marion Jackson passed by the "Rex" saloon Sunday morning and smiled.

Charlie Jones, the proprietor, hidden from view across the street in a store, chuckled with delight at the interest shown in his former place of business.

As his final official act as one of Georgia's leading saloonists, he had hung a crepe rosette on the door knob of the "Rex" saloon.

Sign on Door.

A sign beside the crepe rosette in large letters blazed forth the following announcement to the world:

"CLOSED!

"On account of business; let
"Every man get busy for our city—
"And look and work for a day of
"RESURRECTION.
"The Rex."

A cartoon of a "drunk" preparing to board a water-wagon for a ride was also posted on the door glass.

A reporter was attracted by the large crowds who curiously read the sign beside the mourning crepe. He made an inspection of the door, and a moment later saw Charlie Jones across the street in a store.

"Hello, Charlie, some sign that," he called out.

"Yep," answered Charlie, laughing.

"Marion Jackson passed by a moment ago and cracked a big smile when he saw the crepe and card on the door," said Charlie.

"How much beer did you sell Saturday?" the reporter asked.

"Didn't keep count, but sold out. Gave the boys the last fifty drinks and went home and slept well.

"Can tell you how many drinks I sold during the week, though.

67,000 Drinks.

"There were fifty-eight full kegs, consisting of 31,208 eight-ounce drinks and 150 casks of bottle beer, ten dozen bottles to the cask, each bottle containing two drinks, or 36,000 drinks.

"The grand total is 67,000 drinks for the week, or thereabouts."

"What are you going to do, Charlie?" asked the reporter.

"You didn't see the sign inside last night, evidently," Charlie retorted. "It read as follows:

"'Don't ask us what we are going to do.

"'What are you going to do?'"

"But I'm going to Florida next week for my first rest in eighteen years," Charlie said as he walked off.

BACK OF REBELLION BROKEN IN IRELAND; LEADERS SURRENDER

NO NOTICE SERVED ON UNITED STATES TO LEAVE MEXICO

Obregon Wants American Troops Withdrawn, But He Presented No Sort of Ultimatum to Scott and Funston.

NEXT STEP TO BE TAKEN DEPENDS ON WASHINGTON

Mexicans Try to Impress on Scott and Funston That Political Conditions in Mexico Demand Withdrawal of Troops.

El Paso, Texas, April 30.—Mexican and American conferees over the disposition of the American forces in Mexico marked time today while Generals Scott and Funston awaited word from Washington as to the next step to be taken in the negotiations with General Obregon.

The report of the American representatives on the first conference went forward by wire early this morning. On the answer of President Wilson and Secretaries Lansing and Baker to its recommendations depends the future status of the conference.

Summary of the Situation.

In the meantime the following facts developed:

That to date the apparent intention of the Washington government to keep General Pershing's columns in Mexico has not been changed.

That General Obregon in yesterday's conference served no sort of notice on Generals Scott and Funston that could be construed as an ultimatum demanding immediate withdrawal.

That the desire of the de facto government for withdrawal was again stated, but that the only discussion along this line was regarding the advisability of an American retirement.

That there was considerable discussion of the possibility of effective American and Mexican co-operation in the eradication of scattered Villa bandit groups.

That there is a strong possibility there will be only one more conference held, that depending on the wishes of the Washington government.

That while the present negotiations are proceeding shipments of supplies to the American expeditions front are going forward uninterruptedly.

Mexicans Urge Withdrawal.

From stray bits of information today it appears that yesterday's conference ended with the question of withdrawal of the United States troops still uppermost in the minds of the Mexican conferees. They are understood to have tried to impress on the American representatives their claim that political conditions in Mexico are such that they cannot be responsible for any eventualities that may result from continued occupation of Mexican soil by American columns. They are said also to have laid stress on the fact that the position of the Carranza government would be extremely delicate if the expeditionary movement were not ended.

In view of the already expressed attitude of the Americans that they were unable to discuss any other question than co-operation of the two armies in dispersing the various bandit organization the next step was to attempt to

More Than Seven Hundred Rebels Have Been Captured in Dublin, Among Them the Countess Markievicz, Who Has Been Playing Soldier's Part.

PROCLAMATION ISSUED BY "IRISH PRESIDENT," CALLING OFF REBELLION

"President" Pearce Advises Followers to Surrender, as They Are Surrounded and Hopelessly Outnumbered. Despite Surrender of Leaders, It Is Believed Small Rebel Bands Will Continue Guerrilla Warfare.

Kingstown, Ireland, April 30.—(Via London, May 1.)—The main body of the Sinn Fein rebels in Dublin surrendered during the course of the day.

There was, however, considerable fighting throughout Sunday in Dublin and the suburbs. It was especially severe at Balls Bridge, outside Dublin.

The rebels in the College of Surgeons surrendered this morning. One of the prisoners taken here was the Countess Markievicz.

The proclamation issued by "Provisional President Pearce advising the surrender of all the rebels follows:

"In order to prevent the further slaughter of unarmed people and in the hope of saving the lives of our followers, who are surrounded and hopelessly outnumbered the members of the provisional government at headquarters have agreed to unconditional surrender and the commanders of all the units of the republican forces will order their followers to lay down their arms.

(Signed) "PEARCE."

Guerrilla Warfare to Continue.

Although the principal leaders of the rebel movement have laid down their arms and advised their followers to acquiesce in an unconditional surrender, there is no doubt that there will be still great difficulty in restoring peace in Dublin and the surrounding districts, for numerous small bands of rebels evidently either have not received the leaders' orders, or doubt the authenticity of the orders, and have determined to continue guerrilla warfare Dublin is filled with small bands located in staunch houses and other buildings, who have always been able to escape by subterranean passages as soon as the attack of the soldiers has proved too strong.

That the situation in Dublin was still regarded as dangerous was indicated by the fact that few persons were permitted to penetrate into the city through the rigid military cordon.

Nobody is allowed to enter Dublin without written permission from the highest authority, and then only at his own risk. Moreover, the people are warned that this risk is considerable.

Weather Prophecy

Washington—Forecast:

Georgia—Fair Monday and probably Tuesday.

South Carolina—Fair Monday and probably Tuesday.

Alabama, Mississippi—Fair Monday; Tuesday, local showers and cooler.

Tennessee, Kentucky—Increasing cloudiness Monday, probably followed by showers and cooler west portions; Tuesday, showers and cooler.

Louisiana—Monday, cloudy, probably showers, colder in the interior; Tuesday, fair, colder in southeast portion, warmer in northwest portion.

ECONOMY

Buy-Right Hints for the Housewife

Next Season's Coal

Just as Atlanta housewives are rejoicing over the welcome discontinuance of grate, furnace and range fires, and the relaxation from these very necessary although not over congenial cares is assured, it seems somewhat of a paradox, that NOW is the time to buy your coal for next season's needs. The coal men are now about to launch their sales campaigns for coal for next season's use; and NOW is the best time to contract for it. You can contract for your supplies now without cash outlay. The coal men simply want your orders now, subject to future delivery. The plan of anticipating your needs is always advantageous; particularly so in buying coal. Orders placed now are based on the lowest possible prices secured by the coal concerns from the mines; and free from price contingencies that invariably arise later in the season. Coal for domestic use is just as much a housewifely purchase as groceries or dry goods. She probably knows the kind best suited to the needs of the home, as well as the quantity needed. It is a real stroke of economy to buy your coal now. Have the matter settled and off of your mind.

NOTE—The CONSTITUTION guarantees a marked saving on every purchase made in Atlanta in stores that advertise their lowest prices in these pages.

The Democracy of the Lodges

In the various secret organizations of Atlanta there are included in their membership every phase of business, professional and vocational calling. A representative brotherhood that effaces the variances of political, social and financial doctrines and attributes on the threshold of its temples. Brain and brawn clasp hands in the congeniality of a common welfare. It is this thoroughly democratic spirit that has made secret organizations the strongest fraternal and benevolent institutions in the world. Atlanta is supremely representative in lodge affairs, both at home and abroad. For upwards of a half a century The Constitution has kept pace with the news of the lodges, exploited their benefactions, and co-operated with every scheme for their advancement and prosperity. From the very first issue of this paper, dating back almost fifty years, the meeting notices of Atlanta lodges have appeared with uninterrupted regularity in its columns. It has been the recognized forum of their events, and created in their thousands of members a time-nursed habit of referring to them for information and guidance.

as stray bullets are likely to meet the visitor from some unexpected quarter.

The food situation in Dublin is precarious. Thirty-four free food depots were opened Sunday, stocked for the most part with food commandeered from various places by the military. The food is being doled out in tiny portions after a rigid examination into the necessities of the applicant. Food also is very short in Kingstown, and many of the necessaries of life cannot be obtained at any price.

BACK OF REVOLT HAS BEEN BROKEN.

London, April 30.—An official statement issued tonight by the official press bureau regarding the rebellion in Ireland says:

"The rebels are surrendering freely. The back of the rebellion has been broken.

"Seven hundred and seven prisoners have been taken, including the Countess Markievicz.

"Messengers have been sent from the leader of the Dublin rebels to other rebels in Galway, Clare, Wexford, Louth and Dublin counties ordering them to surrender."

Back of Rebellion Broken.

The text of the statement follows:

"The general officer commanding in chief the Irish command has reported the situation in Dublin much more satisfactory. Throughout the country there was still much more to be done, which would take time, but he hoped that the back of the rebellion had been broken.

"Last night messengers were sent out from the rebel leaders in Dublin to the rebel bodies in Galway, Clare, Wexford, Louth and Dublin counties ordering them to surrender, and priests and the Royal Irish constabulary are doing their utmost to disseminate this information.

"As regards the situation in Dublin, rebels from the areas of Sackville street, the postoffice and the Four Courts are surrendering freely. More incendiary fires took place in Sackville street last night, but the fire brigade is now able to resume work.

"It is further reported that up to the present 707 prisoners have been taken. Included among these is the Countess Markievicz.

Truce at Enniscorthy.

"The rebels at Enniscorthy are reported to be still in possession of this place, and a mixed column of cavalry, infantry and artillery, including 4.7 guns, has been sent from Wexford with a view to engaging the rebels. The latest information from Enniscorthy shows that the rebel leader at this place does not believe the rebel leader's message from Dublin, and has proceeded to that city in a motor car under escort to verify the information. In the meantime a truce exists.

"A deputation for a similar purpose from the rebels at Ashbourne (County Meath) has also been sent to Dublin. At Galway the rebels are believed to be disbanding, and few arrests have been made.

"At New Ross Gorey, Wicklow, Bagenalstown and Arklow the situation is reported normal. Carlow and Dunlavin are believed to be quiet."

The Countess Has a Record.

The Countess of Markievicz was a prominent figure in the street car riots in 1913 led by James Larkin. For a number of years she has been an ardent militant socialist and Sinn Feiner.

Early in the present year the home of the countess in Dublin was raided by the police and a printing outfit with which it was alleged pro-German literature was being printed was seized. Some reports had it that arms also had been found in the home of the countess and that letters seized during the raid led to the discovery of an arsenal of the Sinn Feiners.

The countess is a sister of Sir Josslyn Booth, a land owner of Salford, Manchester. Her husband is a Polish artist. Dispatches last week said that at the outbreak of the Sinn Feiners, the countess, dressed in a volunteer uniform, was a prominent figure among the rebel element. According to an Irishman who arrived in London and who witnessed the disturbances of the first two days, in the effort to capture Dublin castle, the countess shot and killed a guard in front of the castle.

DUBLIN SITUATION GREATLY IMPROVED.

London, April 30.—"The situation in Dublin has considerably improved this morning, but the rebels still were offering resistance in the neighborhood of Sackville street," says a statement issued by Field Marshall Viscount French at 11:30 o'clock last night.

"The cordon of troops encircling this quarter, however, was steadily closing in, but house to house fighting necessarily rendered progress slow. The postoffice and the block of buildings east of Sackville street have been destroyed by fire. A party of rebels has been driven out of Boland's Mills in Rang's End by guns mounted on motor lorries. One of the rebel leaders, a man named Pearse, is reported wounded in the leg. A report received this evening stated that Pearse has surrendered unconditionally, and that he asserted he had been authorized to accept the same terms of surrender for his followers in Dublin. Another leader, James Connolly, has been reported killed.

"The Four Courts district, which still is held by rebels, is also surrounded by a cordon of police which gradually is closing in. All information points to the conclusion that the rebellion in Dublin is on the verge of collapse. A considerable number of rebels are prisoners in military custody.

"Reports this evening from the rest of Ireland are generally satisfactory. The conditions at Belfast and Ulster are normal and the situation at Londonderry is stated to be quite satisfactory. The district within 15 miles of Galway also is reported normal, but rebel bands have been located between Athenry and Craunhwell. Nineteen rebel prisoners have been captured and sent to Queenstown. Another band of rebels is reported entrenched at Enniscorthy, but the police still are holding out and roads and railways are clear to within four miles of the town. The damage done to Barrow bridge on the Dublin and Southeastern railway is not serious."

SINN FEINERS ISSUE A PAPER.

London, April 30.—A Dublin dispatch to the press association, dated Saturday, says that the Sinn Feiners are issuing a newspaper describing the progress of the revolt and containing "army orders" signed by General Connolly. It is supposed that the newspaper is being printed in The Freeman's office, which is in rebel possession.

The dispatch adds it is feared that the operation in clearing Sackville street of the rebels entailed considerable loss of life. Virtually all the buildings in Sackville street, from Henry street to Eden Quay, have been partly destroyed.

REBELS MURDER POLICE CONSTABLE.

London, April 30.—A police constable, Charles Magee, carrying dispatches in the Dundalk district, county Louth, Sunday afternoon, was stopped by armed rebels, who took the dispatches from him, placed him against a hedge and shot him to death.

This was disclosed in the evidence given at the inquest held in the county Louth infirmary. The inquest was then adjourned for a week at the request of the crown.

REBEL CONNOLLY SHOT IN THIGH.

London, April 30.—The bullet which struck James Connolly, one of the rebel leaders, passed through a thigh bone and broke it, says a telegram to the Central News from Dublin. Connolly was in the general postoffice when injured.

CALL TO THE IRISH BY REBEL LEADERS

Text of Proclamation at Outbreak of Revolt—Support of Irish-Americans and Germany Claimed.

London, April 30.—The proclamation issued by the insurgents at Dublin at the outbreak of the revolt reads as follows:

"The provisional government of the Irish republic to the people of Ireland:

"Irish men and Irish women, in the name of God and of the dead generations from which you received the old traditions of nationhood, Ireland, through us, summons her children to her flag and strikes for her freedom, having organized and trained her manhood through her secret revolutionary organization, the Irish republican brotherhood, and through her open military organization, the Irish volunteers and the Irish citizen army.

Supported by Irish-Americans.

"Having patiently perfected their discipline and resolutely waited for the right moment to reveal itself, she now seizes that moment and, supported by her exiled children in America and by her gallant allies in Europe, but relying on her own strength, she strikes in full confidence of victory.

"We declare the right of the people of Ireland to the ownership of Ireland and to unfettered control of Irish destinies, to be sovereign and indefeasible. Long usurpation of that right by a foreign people and government has not extinguished that right, nor can it ever be extinguished except by the destruction of the Irish people.

"In every generation the Irish people have asserted their right to national freedom and sovereignty. Six times during the past three hundred years they have asserted it in arms. Standing on that fundamental right and again asserting it in arms in the face of the world, we hereby proclaim the Irish republic as a sovereign independent state and we pledge our lives and the lives of our comrades in arms to the cause of its freedom, its welfare and its exaltation among nations.

Call to All the Irish.

"The Irish republic is entitled to and hereby claim the allegiance of every Irish man and Irish woman. The republic guarantees religious and civil liberty, equal rights and equal opportunities to all its citizens, and declares its resolve to pursue the happiness and prosperity of the whole nation and of all its parts, cherishing all the children of the nation equally and oblivious of the differences carefully fostered by an alien government which have divided the minority from the majority in the past.

"Until our arms have brought the opportune moment for the establishment of a permanent national government representative of the whole people of Ireland and elected by the suffrages of all her men and women, the provisional government hereby constituted will administer the civil and military affairs of the republic in trust of the people.

"We place the cause of the Irish republic under the protection of the most high God, whose blessing we invoke upon our arms, and we pray that no one who serves that cause will dishonor it by cowardice, inhumanity or rapine. In this supreme hour the Irish nation must by its valor and discipline and by the readiness of its children to sacrifice themselves for the common good, prove itself worthy of the august destiny to which it is called.

"Signed in behalf of the provisional government: Thomas J. Clarke, S. MacDiarmad, Thomas MacDonagh, J. H. Pearce, E. Ceannt, James Connolly, Joseph Plunkett."

IRISH-AMERICANS THANK GERMANY.

New York, April 30.—Several thousand men and women of Irish birth or sympathies who attended mass meetings here tonight under the auspices of the United Irish societies passed resolutions of sympathy for the Dublin revolutionists and thanked Germany "for extending to Ireland as far as the present military situation will permit the same kind of aid as was rendered the infant American republic by France."

The hope was expressed that Germany's assistance would become enlarged to an extent that Ireland might "be recognized as a belligerent and an ally of the central powers, her civil and military rights asserted and a place secured for her in the congress of the nations which will settle the terms of peace."

Mention of the names of John Redmond, leader of the Irish nationalists, and Sir Edward Carson brought forth hisses, while reference to Sir Roger Casement caused wild cheering.

Dennis A. Spellissy, president of the United Irish societies, called the meeting to order.

The resolutions congratulated the volunteers on "the magnificent display of gallantry and military skill they have displayed in the fighting in Dublin during the past week."

"We call upon all Irishmen in the United States," the resolutions added, "to join the friends of Irish freedom as the only practical means of expressing their sympathy and support for the struggle of freedom in the old land. If we in America act and work as the emergency demands, that struggle, no matter what its vicissitudes in the immediate future may be, can have only one ending—the writing of Robert Emmet's epitaph and Ireland's taking her place among the nations of the earth."

An appeal was made to "the generous, broad-minded and liberty-loving American people to give Ireland their active sympathy and moral support, and their strong condemnation of the ruthless reign of terrorism and massacre which England has already announced her determination to enforce in that country."

It was asserted that Ireland's independence was necessary to secure the freedom of the seas for the peaceful commerce of the world.

BILLION DOLLARS URGED FOR WORK OF CHURCH

Washington, April 30.—Discussions outlining effective means for awakening the latent forces of the churches of the United States and stimulating missionary work at home and abroad, brought to a close tonight the National Congress of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, which has been in session here since Wednesday.

J. Campbell White, president of Wooster college, and former general secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, described the "immeasurable human and material resources in the United States, controlled by church members," which, he declared, should be awakened in order that an adequate program might be carried out. "This country is now called a billion dollar country," he said. "We could spend that amount on church work if Protestant church members gave a tenth of their income. They are giving perhaps 350 millions now to all church expenses and 50 millions to missions."

Other addresses urging the necessity of utilizing the resources controlled by the churches for the promotion of missionary causes were delivered by William B. Miller, general secretay of the movement; Robert E. Speer, of New York; N. W. Rowell, K. C., of Toronto, Canada, and Bishop A. S. Lloyd, president of the board of missions of the Protestant Episcopal church.

The total registration of delegates attending the congress was 1,247, representing every Protestant denomination in the United States.

ORGANIZED LABOR GAINING GROUND

Received More in Year Ending May 1 in Increased Wages and Shortening of Hours Than Ever Before.

Washington, April 30.—Organized labor received more in the year ending May 1 in increased wages, shortening of hours and legislation than ever before in its history, according to officials of the American Federation of Labor. Wage advances were general the country over in virtually every line of industry, and laws benefiting labor were put on the statute books of every state in the union except five.

Wage increases were greatest in the metal trades, many of which were stimulated by war orders. Cotton manufacturing was the only main industry which did not grant substantial increases. The metal trades, too, claimed the greatest number of strikes during the year, though many plants increased the pay of their men and cut working hours voluntarily.

One benefit brought by the industrial revival which labor officials consider as important as increases in wages was the effect on unemployment, which has disappeared within the past year. Statistics just completed by the department of labor show that men of all trades have been called in to work. Iron and steel mills have on their payrolls now 36 per cent more men than were employed a year ago, and the car building and repairing industry has increased its forces by about the same percentage. Manufacturers of boots and shoes are employing 20 per cent more men than this time last year.

Wage increases during the year have ranged from 5 to 15 per cent. No statistics have been compiled by either the department of labor or the American Federation of Labor, but reports coming in to both tell of what is being accomplished in manufacturing plants in all parts of the country.

1,500 Strikes in 1915.

The department of labor puts the country's 1915 strikes at 1,500, about 300 more than the year before. About two-thirds of them were for wage increases or decreased working hours, and most of them were successful. Munitions strikes starting in the summer of 1915 attracted much attention. Most of them were for shorter hours without pay increases. Shorter hours generally were obtained by the munitions workers, but where wage increases were asked the workers seldom got as much as they asked for.

Strikes in the clothing industry in eastern cities involved a number of strikes, but their duration was comparatively short. A middle western clothing strike in Chicago, however, lasted for three months, and involved from 6,000 to 25,000 workers. Other strikes of importance during the year included the building trades strike in Chicago, which halted building in that city for a time; the oil and chemical strikes of Elizabeth, N. J., and neighboring cities and the Chicago street car strike. The eastern Ohio coal strike was settled just a year ago.

The causes of strikes and lockouts were numerous. In a total of 1,200 strikes, three hundred were for wage increases, 133 for a shorter working day, 90 because of wage cuts, 60 because of discharge of union men, 40 because of employment of non-union men and 20 for open or closed shop.

The most significant feature of the year's labor legislation is given by labor leaders as enactment of workmen's compensation laws. The growth of the industrial commission plan is considered of great importance also. This plan unites in one authority the administration of workmen's compensation, factory inspection and other labor laws. It was adopted during the year by Colorado, Indiana, Montana, Nevada and New York.

Unemployment Problem.

Unemployment received the attention of a number of legislatures. Illinois established a commission on unemployment; California and Nevada investigated unemployment conditions and Idaho provided emergency employment through county boards.

Public employment offices were established by California, Idaho, Iowa, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Illinois, Michigan and Oklahoma extended their public employment systems. Seven states provided for licensing and supervising private employment offices.

Laws relating to the employment of women and children were passed by a number of states. Arkansas and Kansas enacted minimum wage laws and California, Massachusetts and Washington amended minimum wage laws already in force. Eleven states now have minimum wage legislation. Arkansas and Pennsylvania passed child labor legislation during the year.

In the field of safety provision the most detailed enactments were those formulated by the industrial commission of Wisconsin and the industrial boards of New York and Pennsylvania. The seamen's act, the Alaska and Arizona old age pension laws and California's appointment of a commission to report on social insurance were other important enactments.

REIMER IS NOMINATED BY SOCIALIST LABORITES

New York, April 30.—Arthur E. Reimer, of Boston, Mass., was nominated for president of the United States, and Caleb Harrison, of Chicago, Ill., was nominated for vice president by the socialist labor party in convention here tonight.

A resolution was passed urging employees to organize industrially "on the principles of the workers of the International Industrial Union, and do all in their power to show the fallacy of craft unionism as exemplified by the American Federation of Labor," which was characterized as "a mere watch-your-job-and-boost-your-pay organization."

A platform was adopted asserting that the present system of "economic inequality" is destructive to the life, liberty and happiness of the working classes and declaring that the means of production "must be owned, operated and controlled by the people in common."

The platform declarations were, in part, as follows:

"We hold that the existing contradiction between social production and capitalist appropriation—the latter resulting from the private ownership of the natural and social opportunities—divides the people into two classes, the capitalist class and the working class, throws society into convulsions of the class struggle and perverts government in the interests of the capitalist class.

"This labor is robbed of the wealth it alone produces, is denied the means of self-employment, and by compulsory idleness in wage-slavery, is even deprived of the necessaries of life.

"In place of such a system, the socialist labor party aims to substitute a system of social ownership of the means of production, industrially administered by the working class—the workers to assume control and direction as well as operation of their industrial affairs.

"This solution of necessity requires the organization of the working class as a class upon revolutionary political and industrial lines.

"We, therefore, call upon the wage workers to organize themselves into a revolutionary political organization under the banner of the socialist labor party and to organize themselves likewise upon the industrial field into a revolutionary industrial union in keeping with their political aims."

FRENCH DRIVING AT GERMAN LINES IN VERDUN REGION

German Trench Is Taken and Prisoners Are Captured in the Vicinity of Dead Man's Hill.

London, April 30.—The French and Germans on several sectors to the northeast of Verdun have been engaged in relatively heavy infantry fighting, with the results evidently in favor of the French. To the north of Le Mort Homme the French seized a German trench and captured fifty-three prisoners, and to the north of Cumieres made a still further gain, in which thirty prisoners were taken. Berlin says that strong French attacks from Le Mort Homme to the northern part of the Caurettes wood were repulsed.

On the remainder of the front except for small infantry attacks, notably in the Vosges mountains and in the region of Lassigny, bombardments alone have been in progress.

In fights in the air the French claim that their aviators have brought down four Fokkers and four other German aeroplanes, while Berlin says that in a fight over Verdun a French machine was shot down.

Except for an Austrian attack on the Col di Lana, which the Italians repulsed, only bombardments have taken place on the Austro-Italian line.

In the region south of Lake Narocz a further success for the German arms against the Russians in the capture of four guns, one machine gun and eighty-three prisoners is reported by Berlin. Petrograd says the fighting in this region has diminished in intensity. On the remainder of the northern Russian line there have been only artillery bombardments.

North of Mouravitz, in the Ikwa river region, the Austrians forced the Russians out of a trench, but later the Russians, in a counter attack, in which they inflicted heavy casualties, recaptured the trench and received the surrender of 600 Magyars, twenty-two of whom were officers. In the fighting the Russians admit the loss of four officers and one hundred men.

The Turks in the vicinity of Diarbekr, Asiatic Turkey, took the offensive against the Russians, but were repulsed.

In East Africa the British are continuing their successes against the Germans, having taken near Kondoairangi munitions convoys and a large number of cattle.

FRENCH GAIN NEAR VERDUN.

Paris, April 30.—Capture of a German trench north of Dead Man's hill, with 53 prisoners, the ejection of the Germans from trenches they had taken south of Lassigny, and the repulse of German assaults in the Vosges, are reported in the official statement issued by the war office today. In the Argonne a German aeroplane was forced to earth by French machines and its two officers captured.

The text of the statement follows:

"In the region south of Lassigny the Germans last night after a lively cannonade directed a small attack upon our positions near Hamel. The enemy which had gained a foothold in an element of the trenches was immediately ejected by our counter attack.

"On the left bank of the Meuse there was a bombardment in the sector of Avocourt and the region of Esnes. At the close of the day our troops seized a German trench north of Dead Man's hill and made 53 prisoners, of whom one was an officer.

"On the left bank and in the Woevre there was intermittent artillery activity.

"In the Vosges the enemy during the night attempted three coups de main upon our trenches in Ban-de-Sapt, Tete de Faux and south of Largizen, which we everywhere repulsed with losses.

"Aviation: An aviator was forced to earth intact in the Bisemiele valley (Argonne) after a fight with our aviators who pursued the machine. The two officers who manned it were taken prisoner."

The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads:

"West of the Meuse our first and second lines in the region of Le Mort Homme were violently bombarded. North of Cumieres our troops took possession of a German trench in the course of the day and made thirty prisoners.

"East of the Meuse and in the Woevre the day was comparatively calm. On the rest of the front nothing occurred except the usual cannonading.

"Aviation: One of our aeroplanes attacked two Fokkers above the German lines in the region of Roye. Subjected to machine gun fire at an altitude of 1,500 meters, one crashed to the ground; the other was forced to make a landing.

"Two other Fokkers were brought down by our battle aeroplanes, one near Les Eparges and the other at Douaumont.

"Five enemy aeroplanes dropped bombs in the region south of Verdun. Our pursuit machines, sent after them, succeeded in bringing down two. A third was brought to earth by the fire of our special guns."

The Belgian official communication reads:

"The region around Dixmude was heavily bombarded last night on both sides of the Yser. The artillery duel was resumed in the morning. Calm prevailed on the rest of the front."

FRENCH REPULSED, GERMANS REPORT.

Berlin, April 30.—(By Wireless.)—French attacks on the German positions on the eastern slope of Dead Man's hill and adjoining lines, in the region of Verdun, were repulsed last night after tenacious fighting, says the official statement issued today at the German army headquarters.

On the Russian front, the statement adds, four more Russian cannon were captured and eighty-three prisoners were taken last night by the German troops south of Narocz lake.

The text of the statement follows:

"Western theater: The English made successive attacks against Givenchy-en-Gohelle without success.

"North of the Somme and northwest of the Oise patrol engagements were successful for the Germans.

"To the left of the Meuse strong French forces yesterday evening attacked German positions on the hill of the Dead Man and adjoining lines as far as the northern part of Caurettes wood. After tenacious fighting on the east slope of the height the attack was repulsed.

"On the right bank of the river an attempt made by the enemy to advance northwest of the farm of Thiaumont failed.

"A German aviator flying over Verdun engaged three adversaries and shot down one of them.

"Eastern theater: South of Narocz lake last night four more Russian cannon and one machine gun were captured and eighty-three prisoners taken."

AUSTRIANS LOSE, RUSSIANS CLAIM.

Petrograd, April 30.—(Via London.)—The following official communication was issued today:

"In the Riga region the enemy artillery concentrated its fire on Shlok and to the south of Dalen Island. The region of Zeelbourg, northwest of Jacobstadt, also was subjected to an artillery fire. Artillery duels have taken place at many places on the Dvinsk front.

"In the region west of Lake Narocz the fighting has diminished in intensity. We repulsed by our fire an enemy attempt to debouch from his entanglements north of Krevo.

"North of Mouravitz, after heavy artillery preparations, the Austrians at dawn yesterday attacked with considerable forces our trenches forming the salient west of the village of Boyarka. They were held by a single company, which was compelled to retire. Our detachments then opened a violent artillery fire and a counter attack and by 1 o'clock, despite gusts of enemy fire, we recaptured the lost trenches with all of their surviving Magyar garrison, totaling 22 officers and more than 600 men, who surrendered their arms.

"The reconquered trenches were filled with dead or wounded Magyars. Our losses were four officers and 100 soldiers. We captured a great number of rifles and considerable munitions and other booty.

"In the Caucasus region, near Diarbekr, we repulsed an offensive by Turkish advance guards."

GAS ATTACK ON BRITISH.

London, April 30.—The British official statement issued tonight says:

"Last night the enemy showed some activity. Near Fricourt he made an unsuccessful raid against our trenches, under the explosion of a mine and a heavy bombardment.

"North of the Messines-Wulverghem road he liberated gas about 1 o'clock in the morning on a front of about two thousand yards, and followed this with an infantry attack, which was broken up by our artillery fire. At one point only did a hostile party enter our trenches. This party was immediately bombed out.

"Combined with this attack the enemy, after a heavy bombardment attempted an attack with bombers near Hollandscheschuur. This was equally unsuccessful against our machine gun fire and bombs. Several dead were left lying in front of our wire.

"In the Loos salient there has been active underground mine warfare. Today we carried out an effective bombardment of hostile works along the Ypres-Pilkelm road."

ITALIANS REPULSE AUSTRIAN ATTACKS.

Rome, April 30.—(Via London.)—The official statement issued from general headquarters today reads:

"Between the Giudicaria and Sugana valleys there were artillery activity and aerial reconnaissances. Enemy aeroplanes aiming at Verona were repulsed by our anti-aircraft artillery and pursuit aeroplanes.

"On the night of April 23 in the upper Cordevole the enemy renewed his attacks against our positions on Col di Lana, but was repulsed after a violent hand-to-hand struggle, with heavy losses.

"On the middle Isonzo and on the Carso there were artillery duels. Enemy aeroplanes shelled villages on the lower Isonzo. There were some casualties, but slight material damage."

BRITISH TROOPS FIGHT IN THE MUD.

British Headquarters in France, April 30.—(Via London.)—The physical difficulty of any extended movement until dry weather sets in is exemplified by the experience of a battalion which took a section of a German trench on the Ypres-Langemarck road after two days of spring rains. The attacking forces sank up to their armpits in the morass which was spotted with shell craters filled with water, helping themselves along with their rifles, half crawling, half swimming under shell fire.

After the trench had been taken the men dug out the wounded and those stuck in the mire who were not wounded. One corporal, himself wounded, took two and a half hours to bring another wounded man six hundred yards through a bog.

A German counter attack, caught floundering in the mud by machine gun fire, gave up the attempt and withdrew.

BRITISH GAIN IN EAST AFRICA.

London, April 30.—A British official communication concerning the operations against the Germans in East Africa says:

"Lieutenant General Jan Christian Smuts, commander of the expeditionary forces, telegraphs under date of April 29 that his mounted troops captured in the vicinity of Kondoairangi various convoys of munitions, including 200 slaughter oxen, 80 rifles, a large amount of ammunition, a herd of 600 mixed cattle, and two hundred donkeys with saddlery and supplies."

MAN FOUND DEAD WAS HIGHWAYMAN

Call Officers McWilliams and Malcom, rushed to the Allen residence, also the Grady hospital ambulance.

BODY FOUND ON WALL.

The body of Gaines was lying on the stone wall which surrounds the Allen yard, and from appearances he had only been dead several minutes.

The peculiar position in which the body was lying on the wall, first led officers to believe that he had been attacked by highwaymen and had started up to the Allen home for protection when shot.

A 32-caliber revolver was lying at his side, with all five chambers undischarged.

Owing to darkness, Vismore claimed that he could not identify either of the three men, although officers were certain that Gaines was the one whom he had shot.

Vismore is being held at police headquarters until after a coroner's inquest, which Coroner Paul Donehoo will hold Monday afternoon.

Gaines' body was removed to the funeral home of Harry G. Poole. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Besides his wife and child, Gaines is survived by his brother, Frank, and his mother, Mrs. Lillie Gaines.

Mrs. Gaines is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lawson, at 80 McDaniel street.

ATLANTA RESERVE BANK THIRD IN PROFITS EARNED

Washington, April 30.—The three southern federal reserve banks, Richmond, Dallas and Atlanta, led in the order named in profits earned for the first quarter of 1916, according to announcement here today.

The St. Louis and San Francisco banks lost money.

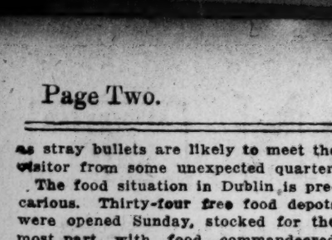

Banks making profits at the rate of more than three per cent annually were:

Richmond 5.25, Dallas 4.34, Atlanta 4.01, Boston 3.24, Kansas City 3.4, Chicago 3.08.

Earnings of all federal reserve banks were $755,707 gross and $257,667 net for the quarter, or at the yearly rate of 1.9 on an average paid in capital of $54,904,000.

CANADA TROOP SHIPS ARRIVE IN ENGLAND

Ottawa, April 30.—It was officially announced tonight that the troop ships Scandinavian, which sailed from Canada on April 17 and the Missanabi, which sailed on April 18, have arrived safely in England with nearly 3,000 officers and men.

FIRE SUFFERERS OF AUGUSTA ARE HELPED BY COOPER

Millionaire Manufacturer of Tanlac Continues to Give Large Part of Income Each Year to Charity and Helps Poor of Many Cities.

Following his long established custom of giving a large part of his income each year to charity to relieve the distress of the poor and unfortunate, Mr. L. T. Cooper, the millionaire manufacturer of Tanlac, has recently performed many unique charities in southern cities, and his relief work in all parts of the country has proven a complete revelation to charity workers everywhere.

As soon as he learned that the cities of Augusta and Nashville had been devastated by fire and that thousands of people were homeless and without food, he immediately instructed his southern representatives to investigate conditions and report to him as to the best means of providing for their needs. In Nashville, although the fire covered a large area, it was confined to a section of the city where the people owned their own homes and whose homes were insured, and when Mr. Cooper offered to make a donation it was learned that the relief fund had been largely over-subscribed, and that they would have several thousand dollars in excess of their needs.

In Augusta conditions were different and his donation of fifty barrels of high grade flour was eagerly accepted, and went a long ways toward relieving the distress and want of the poor of that city. His relief work at Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville, Birmingham, Atlanta, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Macon and numerous other cities is already familiar to charity workers throughout the entire country, and has caused widespread discussion of this interesting man, his teachings and his motives. "It pays to divide my income with the poor," said Mr. Cooper on one occasion, "both here and hereafter. "Like everything else," he added laconically, "I am criticised by the 'superior' few in the matter of methods. A few accuse me of doing things merely to advertise my medicine. Well, maybe I do. I believe in advertising, and let me tell you something: To be advertised by grateful friends is a mighty good way to be advertised. If I were poor and unfortunate and sick myself, I would be only too glad to swap a few kind words for bread and dresses for my little ones. And my sympathy for these little ones makes me only too glad that I can give a small part of my advertising money to them instead of giving it all to the newspapers."

Mr. Cooper, however, is the last man in the world to make any sort of apology for his business. In fact, he believes the distribution of this medicine which he has spent so many years and so much money to perfect, is absolutely the best thing he does—the great work of his life. He believes it is a great boon to humanity—believes it with his whole soul.—(adv.)

MARKED UNREST IN LABOR WORLD AS MAY 1 DAWNS

About 60,000 Men and Women on Strike in New York and Other Industrial Disturbances Threatened.

New York, April 30.—An analysis of labor conditions in this city and the Metropolitan district shows that May 1 will dawn with between fifty and sixty thousand working men and women on strike or locked out, with other industrial disturbances threatened which may threw thousands more out of employment.

Strikes involving scores of thousands are in effect or threatened in other parts of the east, notably in Pittsburg, where 14,000 Westinghouse employees are on strike. Settlement also is pending of the country-wide demands of 400,000 railroad employees.

Taken altogether, no May day in recent years will have witnessed so many concrete evidences of industrial unrest in spite of the fact that many thousands of workers have been granted higher wages and shorter hours.

The right of labor to an increased share in the country's prosperity resulting from the war, joined with the higher cost of living, are declared by labor leaders generally to form the foundation of labor demands.

An encouraging development almost on the eve of "May day" was the announcement that a tentative agreement had been reached by the representatives of the operators and miners which probably would avert a strike of 175,000 miners in the anthracite coal fields.

No Water Front Strike.

Announcement was made tonight, also, that because of concessions granted by steamship companies and master stevedores a general strike of workmen on the water front in this city was not probable.

Industrial disturbances here include one of the most serious in the city's history. The Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' association, members of which do an aggregate annual business estimated at $376,000,000, anticipating a possible strike during the height of the summer's activities in garment making, forestalled such action last week by declaring a lockout affecting between 30,000 and 35,000 employees. Union leaders expressed the belief today that the trouble will last until September 1. The lockout was followed by a threat on the part of some 35,000 employees in independent shops to walk out tomorrow or Tuesday unless the employers grant their demand for a continuance of the provision in the 1910 protocol favoring union workers over those unorganized.

Hugh Frayne, general organizer here for the American Federation of Labor, said today that, all told, more men and women were enjoying higher pay and shorter hours than ever before in this city.

SITUATION TRANQUIL IN MIDDLE WEST.

Chicago, April 30.—May day in the middle west will dawn tomorrow on a labor situation which, according to advices from the leading industrial centers, is the most tranquil and promising in years.

Generally speaking, this condition is due largely to the prosperity of the country, the demand for labor and concessions and advances conceded in the course of the last year by employers.

Nowhere in Kansas, Kentucky, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio or Michigan are there strikes of importance. In most of the states disturbances of the labor market are few and of a distinctly minor nature.

Demands of the railroad brotherhoods for an eight-hour day, refused by the railroads, does not figure in the May day situation, as negotiations do not begin for a month, and it is expected that conferences on the subject will last throughout the summer.

Also, while the scale for coal miners is under consideration in several of the states, there is no present threat of the mines being closed.

Among the building trades the situation is considered the most encouraging in years. There are no strikes of importance being waged at present, or in prospect.

THOUSANDS STRIKE IN PITTSBURG DISTRICT.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 30.—Twenty-five thousand machinists, blacksmiths, boilermakers and others employed in the metal working trades in the Pittsburg district were expected by employers and labor leaders to strike tomorrow in support of their demand for the eight-hour day. Moulders have been out since December 13 last and 30,000 or more electrical workers and war munition makers in the various Westinghouse plants have been idle for more than a week. Fifteen hundred car repairmen of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad struck Friday for shorter hours and a 25 per cent increase. The demands of barbers, waiters and others were still under consideration.

Announcement that the eight-hour day was to be made an issue May 1 was followed by the organization of the Employers' Association of Pittsburg which declared in a newspaper advertisement it would not shorten working hours or take any other action that would lead to a curtailment of the production in its plants. Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, conferred with the national officers of the unions directly interested but, labor leaders said, they could get no line on the situation because of the number of non-union workers who had already left the plants where demands had been made.

The county authorities prepared to meet the situation by closing saloons in the Turtle Creek valley, where the Westinghouse factories are located, and later ordering the saloons closed in McKeesport, Braddock, McKees Rocks and throughout Stowe township, where, it was expected, large numbers of men would be idle tomorrow. In Pittsburg 100 horses were collected for mounting the police and cots placed in all stations for reserves.

WAGE CONCESSIONS OFFERED MINERS.

New York, April 30.—Wage concessions which would increase the anthracite mine workers' pay roll by approximately $9,000,000 in the next four years, are offered in the tentative agreement reached early today by a joint subcommittee of operators and miners, it was learned tonight. The agreement, it was predicted by both sides, in all probability will be accepted by the tri-district board representing the miners at their meeting here tomorrow.

Representatives of the miners here declared tonight that the new agreement, which will cover a four-year period, "means the biggest triumph in point of concessions ever obtained by the miners." The operators for the first time have granted to the miners the right to organize for bettering conditions in the coal fields, the leaders asserted.

The increase in wages virtually amounts to 15½ per cent for day workers, according to the miners, who pointed out that the granting of the demand for an eight-hour instead of a nine-hour work-day added 12½ per cent to the 3 per cent increase for day workers.

The concessions made by the subcommittee of the miners regarding the recognition of the union were the closed shop and the "check off."

Other concessions granted were the readjustment of classifications of engineers and a 7 per cent increase in their wages; the providing of a machine mining scale governing the basic payment to all classes of labor employed in that work, with the added clause that no contract for machine mining can be made for less than day rates.

There also were provisions made for overtime work and increasing the rate of pay for emergency labor.

NO LABOR CLOUDS IN NEW ENGLAND.

Boston, April 30.—The New England labor horizon tonight appeared unusually clear of May day disturbance. However, while many steamship companies during the past month have granted more pay to seamen, engineers and firemen, it was asserted at recent union meetings that the demands had not been fully met. There also is unrest among longshoremen. The situation was viewed tonight with some concern because of the congestion of freight.

In manufacturing centers, threatened strikes have been averted by wage increases. Beginning tomorrow, cotton mill operatives will receive ten per cent more pay, an increase which will amount at the end of the year to a total of approximately $6,000,000.

STREET CAR MEN GO OUT ON STRIKE.

Pittsburg, April 30.—A strike of street car men which will tie up all lines in the city and suburbs as well as interurban lines in the Beaver valley was ordered at midnight by T. J. Ward, president of the local union. This action was taken shortly after negotiations between the employees and officials of the Pittsburg Railways company had been broken off after a day of conferences during which Mayor Armstrong attempted to bring the factions together.

The strike affects 2,200 conductors and motormen and about 800 other employees. The men asked for a maximum wage of 36 cents an hour, an increase of six cents, while President Callery was willing to grant them only 32 cents.

WOMAN A PHYSICAL WRECK

Tells in Following Letter How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a physical wreck. I had been going to a doctor for several years but he did me no good. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I decided to give it a fair trial, and it gave me relief from bearing down pains which had been so bad that I would have to lie down. I also used the Sanative Wash and it has done me a great deal of good, and I am not troubled with a weakness any more." — Mrs. P. L. BRILL, 1299 Booth Street., Milwaukee, Wis.

The most successful remedy for woman's ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test for forty years, which would be impossible if it did not have genuine merit.

For special advice, free, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

the two governments reach an agreement on the principles.

There is no definite information here regarding the time when the reply may be expected. It is felt in diplomatic and official quarters, however, that it hardly will be received before the middle of the week at the earliest.

DERNBURG HOPES FOR AGREEMENT.

Berlin, April 30.—(Via London.)—"Germany's course must not be dictated by temporary tactical advantages, but rather by the exigencies of the entire situation, military and naval," declares Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, former secretary for the colonies, in a lengthy leader in The Tageblatt, entitled "Germany and America."

Dr. Dernburg's editorial is distinctly friendly, conciliatory and hopeful. He concludes:

"It is to be hoped that an understanding will be reached which will conserve our national dignity and whereby we may retain our relations with the United States without having to lessen the force of our activity."

Dr. Dernburg declares that in making the decision Germany must take into consideration her relations with all neutrals, the effect of the entrance of a new and powerful enemy, the conditions respecting food and raw material in Germany and the possibility of attaining peace.

Must Weigh Entire Situation.

"It must be determined what concessions will ward off the threatening American danger," he continued, "and in how far our prospect in defeating our enemies may be lessened thereby. We must let neither national sensitiveness nor a super-feeling of honor govern us, and if we feel strong enough to achieve victory even if we make certain concessions, then we may make them without forfeiting our self-respect."

The writer calls attention to the support of President Wilson by all parties and declares that the president bases his entire case on the Lusitania, Arabic and Sussex, passenger ships torpedoed without warning, not on countless other cases in which attempted flight or resistance justified the submarine commander in torpedoing.

The Sussex, declares Dr. Dernburg, was torpedoed contrary to assurances given by the German government and the proof adduced at least admits the possibility that the American claims that Germany is responsible may be well grounded, although the representations to America show that it may have been due to a mistake by the commander, rather than to bad intent.

The writer says that the present is no time to discuss America's earnestness or her disposition "to place Germany upon a tall moral horse." He adds:

"The point today is that America is convinced of the justice of her demands. That nation has been seized with an explosive sentiment only paralleled by her feeling prior to the Spanish war."

Warning Against Optimism.

Aside from the Von Reventlow article in the Tages Zeitung, the Boersen Zeitung is the only other paper to discuss the American situation. It warns the public against too great optimism, though admitting that Ambassador Gerard's trip to headquarters in a favorable omen.

From his trip, the paper declares, the public has drawn the conclusion that Germany is coming unquestionably to an absolute understanding and adds that such premature conclusions, it should be known, are not without danger.

"It appears," continues the paper, "as if a considerable part of the public regards the matter with too rosy a view and as if the German government alone could regulate affairs.

"The only conclusion to be drawn from the conference at headquarters is that Germany is endeavoring to find a way to reach an understanding, for good will on the part of the German government to avoid a conflict with America is not lacking, and it would be foolish not to do everything possible to prevent difficulties."

In answer to those who maintain that a breach or a war with the United States should only be welcomed by Germany, the Boersen Zeitung earnestly warns its readers not to forget the fair-reaching importance commercially of a German-American war, which would mean a breach not only for the period of the war, but for years to come. It concludes:

"Belittling the seriousness of the situation, the deliberations are continuing at headquarters, the result of which will be judged by history. We do not know what is thought at Washington, or whether there are pre-conceived opinions there. If Washington, after all that has occurred, wants a breach, then we want it also—but only then."

The Tages Zeitung prints prominently dispatches from the United States concerning "anti-breach" movements and a telegram of protest to the senate. Count von Reventlow draws therefrom inspiration for renewed reiteration that Germany must not under any circumstances recede one inch from its previous position.

GERMANY INTENDS TO SINK ALL SHIPS.

Rotterdam, April 30.—The captain of the Dutch ship Berkelstrom, which was sunk in the North sea, April 23, by a German submarine, is quoted by The Nieuw Rotterdamsche Courant as declaring that the commander of the undersea boat told him the Germans intend to sink all ships of every nationality carrying food to England.

NO NOTICE SERVED TO LEAVE MEXICO

reach a basis on which both sides might meet.

Washington's answer to the telegram dispatched by Generals Scott and Funston today is expected to divulge whether such a basis can be established.

In some quarters tonight there was a disposition to believe that the next conference would deal with the question of withdrawal, but so far as the American conferees are concerned the subject will be approached with reserve.

In these circles it is argued that the United States might consent to relinquish the problem of the Villa bandits to the forces of the de facto government, but that, pending a successful completion of this task by the Carranza forces it would insist on a part occupation of the state of Chihuahua where most of the bandit outrages have occurred.

No Crisis Reached.

There is nothing in the atmosphere of either El Paso or Juarez to indicate that any crisis has been reached in the negotiations. All of the principals, Mexican and American, seem optimistic.

General Obregon expresses the belief that the conference would be ended in time for him to start his return trip to Mexico City by Tuesday or Wednesday.

General Obregon today held a long conference with his advisers. Later it was stated that the minister of war had received a telegram from General Aguilar, minister of foreign relations at Mexico City, stating that General Obregon had been quoted in certain American newspapers as saying that he "had 40,000 men ready to force the retirement of the American troops across the border." The telegram added:

"Instructions of the first chief are that the declarations made by you be sent to this office to be sent officially to our ambassador at Washington."

General Obregon immediately wired a reply, declaring he had "never made or though of making such a statement."

General Calles, military governor of Sonora, who was summoned to Juarez by General Obregon Saturday, today returned to Agua Prieta. Considerable significance has been attached to his visit, but it was announced by Mexican officials that he merely came to Juarez to confer on routine state matters. General Cales is reported to be a strong Obregon supporter.

WILSON STUDIES SCOTT'S REPORT.

Washington, April 30.—While no inkling of the contents of General Hugh L. Scott's report to Secretary Baker on his conference with General Obregon, the Carranza war minister, was given out here today, it was learned that administration officials regard the discussion as still in its preliminary stages.

Mr. Baker took the messages to President Wilson before sending a reply. Afterward he declined to discuss the situation. Few other officials had any knowledge of the report and these were equally silent. The impression prevailed, however, that they viewed the progress of the conference at the border as normal and regarded it up to this point merely as an exchange of views.

There is nothing to indicate that General Obregon's views as to the withdrawal of the American expedition were presented as demands or were more than an explanation of the situation in which the de facto government finds itself. The Carranza military chieftain has made no secret of his intention to call to General Scott's attention the likelihood of further anti-American demonstrations such as that at Parral if the expedition was long continued or endeavored to press the chase of Villa vigorously beyond the point to which it has already penetrated. General Obregon's public statements in this connection have been of an entirely friendly character and there was no suggestion here tonight that his attitude had changed in any way in his talks to General Scott.

It is believed that General Scott found himself in need of further information as to the Washington government's attitude in regard to withdrawal of the troops in view of the arguments General Obregon presented Secretary Baker's original instructions dealt only with the points as to cooperative action with the Mexican government on which he wished stress laid The instructions have not been made public, but it is understood they were not sufficiently broad to permit General Scott to take up discussion of the withdrawal suggestion at length.

Secretary Baker has held that matter to be one for the state department and has confined himself to the purely military questions involved in the bandit chase.

His reply today to General Scott's report probably will enable the latter to indicate clearly to General Obregon to what extent the Washington government is inclined to limit the operations of the troops in Mexico in view of the situation the Carranza official has described. With this question settled, officials here appear to believe that the future meetings between the military advisers of the two governments would be devoted to the question of co-operation.

It has been intimated repeatedly that the redisposition of General Pershing's troops now in progress would leave the American forces secure against any attack that might be aimed at them, and also placed as to be able to give positive protection to the border territory from raiders. With the troopers thus established as a buffer between the remaining bandit forces and the border, it has been suggested that the administration might be willing to hold its ground in a comparatively limited area beyond the border and permit the chase to be continued by the Carranza forces without interference unless it led into the American lines.

Secretary Baker remained late at his office tonight to keep in touch with the border situation. No additional messages came from General Scott.

ELEVEN BARRELS AND SEVEN CASES OF BOOZE SEIZED

One of the first raids on alleged blind tigers in an effort to enforce the new "dry" laws was made Sunday night by the police and resulted in the arrest of three negroes on charges of having liquor in their houses for the purpose of illegal sale.

Beatrice Cleveland, colored, living in the rear of 36 West Peachtree place was arrested and four barrels of liquor and seven cases were confiscated by the officers. She was locked up for trial.

D. Hightower and Bill Toggle, colored, living in the rear of 76 Grant street, were arrested on charges of having liquor for sale. Seven barrels of liquor were confiscated by the officers.

The raiding party was composed of Officers Waggoner, Moon, Allen, Maddox and Shaw. The raids followed orders from the chief of police, the head of the detective department and the chairman of the police commission to break up all blind tigers.

AFTER SLASHING WIFE, HUSBAND CUTS THROAT

Wounded Wife Walks Several Blocks to "See Baby Before She Died."

Knoxville, Tenn., April 30.—Vexed by accusations of jealousy and unfaithfulness, James H. Saffold, aged 30, slashed his wife, aged 26, seven times with a knife and then cut his throat, dying immediately. Mrs. Saffold was hurried to a hospital and has a chance to recover. Desperately wounded, Mrs. Saffold walked several blocks to her home "just to see her baby boy before she died."

HE MURDERED WIFE AND FIVE CHILDREN.

Holland, Texas, April 30.—Attracted by the inactivity about the farm of John Wychopen, near here today, neighbors forced an entrance to the farm dwelling and found Mrs. Wychopen and her five children dead and Wychopen probably mortally wounded. According to the verdict of a coroner's jury, Wychopen shot and killed his wife and children, ranging in age from an infant to 12 years, and fired a bullet into his own head. The motive for the deed could not be ascertained.

GREECE BARS RAILWAYS TO SERBIAN SOLDIERS

Athens, Greece, April 30.—(Via London.)—Replying to the protest from Berlin against the transportation of Serbian soldiers over Greek railways, the Greek government has informed Germany, says the Journal D'Athens, that the cabinet recognizes such an act would be a violation of neutrality.

This action, the newspaper adds, followed a declaration from Germany that in the event of such transportation, German aeroplanes would be obliged to bombard the railways and transport trains.

You hear Caruso's living voice when you hear him on the Victrola

When you listen to one of the beautiful Caruso records played with a Victor Needle or Tungs-tone Stylus on a Victor or Victrola, you get the complete combination which produces the pure and life-like voice of Caruso.

You can secure this in no other way.

COUNCIL AND THE CREMATORY

Council is expected to act today in the matter of the crematory—for which the city has the money in hand to pay, and for which the courts have decided the city owes.

It is to be hoped that final action will be taken today—thus putting the city in possession of the plant, which otherwise will be closed down pending settlement and entailing additional expense on the city.

It would be an act of criminal neglect to let the garbage of the city accumulate at the beginning of summer, threatening the health of the city while a perfectly good plant is ready to handle it and to dispose of it in an entirely satisfactory manner.

The city's obligation is a sacred matter, and the courts, after an exhaustive hearing, have rendered a verdict that should leave no doubt as to the duty of council, especially when to a clearly proven liability is added the necessity of meeting the sanitary requirements of the situation.

Public sentiment will very heartily indorse a complete and final closing of the whole matter and the sooner council acts to that end the better it will be, not only for the good name of the city, but for the health of the community.

CONGRESS' LONG SESSION.

It is getting so in these days that there is no such thing as a short session of congress, except where it is brought to expiration by actual operation of law. Fortunately, however, business is accepting the situation, and is not worrying much over what congress may or may not do.

It used to be the case that business put on rubber shoes while legislative agitation was going on. Now, however, business has gotten used to the long-drawn-out sessions, and is apparently unaffected by the fact that the recess is the shortest thing about it. Commenting upon the length of the session, which began last December, The Springfield (Mass.) Republican says:

> Time was when it was thought the natural thing for congress to complete its business and adjourn, in a presidential year, before the party convention. The record of the party in power was thus completed and the campaign could proceed in an orderly manner. But, as things stand today, congressmen face the certainty of another long summer in Washington and those who best realize the backward state of important legislation will count themselves lucky if adjournment comes as early as September 1.

While charging that the lack of forceful leadership is in part responsible, The Republican inclines to the view that the chief cause lies in the fact that public opinion has been slow to crystallize throughout the country on questions which have arisen since the present congress began its sessions. Upon this basis it sees much justification for the slow course which has been followed.

As a matter of fact, present conditions make it important that congress should remain in session until some determination is reached regarding our most serious problems relating to Germany and Mexico.

While President Wilson is undoubtedly amply able to deal with the situation in a manner most satisfactory to the people, and in accord with the best American sentiment, it is a source of satisfaction to him to have a friendly congress ready and back of him to handle difficult situations on a moment's notice. It is further of value, in that congressional expression will be the more readily accepted as the attitude of the whole people, in connection with any foreign questions which may arise demanding prompt and emphatic action.

Again, the fact that congress is in session on its own account, to remain until some time in the fall, will mean that the president will be relieved of the necessity of calling an extra sesion, should circumstances arise to demand it.

Considered in the light of present circumstances, it is perhaps fortunate that the session of the present congress has been naturally prolonged. There has not been a more critical or more important period of American history in the last half century than that which confronts us today.

GOOD NEWS--IF TRUE!

The gratifying report comes from Washington that no further so-called "anti-railroad" legislation may be expected by this congress, and that even the Reyburn "Securities" measure will probably be sent to the dump again.

It is to be hoped that this is true.

Business and financial conditions, including the effect of the European war in conjunction with the anti-railroad agitation and legislation of several years ago, has had the effect practically of stopping railroad development. For years Georgia led all the other states in railroad extension and development, with the possible exception of Texas; and yet for a long time railroad development in the state has been at almost a standstill.

Whatever the cause—the stubborn fact is there.

As President Wilson has stated, no one would wish to take any backward step in the matter of railroad legislation.

But before taking any more steps of any kind, it is time to give the country a rest and let it digest the legislation already enacted.

Congressman Adamson, of Georgia, chairman of the interstate committee of the house, is alive to the possibilities and dangers in the revival of such an agitation at the present time. While favoring the movement to increase the interstate commerce commission to nine members, and provide for its division into three sections, each dealing with a different problem, he agrees that "no additional legislation should be superimposed upon the present mass of laws until a thorough study of the whole subject is made in accordance with the president's recommendation." And there would be little cause for regret even if action on this suggestion were postponed until conditions were normal again.

Neither the railroads nor the country can afford to go through with another period of agitation. Much good has been accomplished in the past—but the time has now arrived when the country should be given an opportunity to assimilate what has already been fed it in the way of legislative food, before cramming it with more.

Give the patient a chance to recover.

RED CROSS UNDER FIRE.

Red Cross work under fire presents one of the most heroic spectacles of the war—the eagerness with which women go to the work, the sacrifices they make in the service of humanity, their bravery at the battle fronts.

It is well known that many Red Cross nurses are women of independent means, who are willing to pay for the privilege of serving at the front, in the hospitals—everywhere.

In an article on the work of the Red Cross in France, The Churchman says the French Red Cross alone now comprises a volunteer army of women 66,499 in number, and in Paris the Red Cross flag now flies over 288 buildings, and that the mortality among the nurses has been remarkably heavy:

> Twenty-two members of the French society for aid to the wounded soldiers have given their lives to the cause, some of them killed under shell fire, others carried off by contagious diseases. The nurses of this society have received sixty-three epidemic medals, sixty war crosses and one cross of the Legion of Honor. The first Red Cross victim of the war was Mademoiselle Susanne Gilles, who fell at Luneville with her chest torn by the fragments of a shell that burst inside the hospital ward where she was attending the wounded. The next was Mademoiselle Cagnard at Cambrai, who is declared to have been shot point blank by a Prussian soldier firing into the hospital through the window. During the bombardment of Rheims seven women of the Red Cross became victims of the bombardment, including Madame Fontaine-Faudier, Mademoiselle Causse and five sisters of charity.

One beautiful feature of the work to which The Churchman calls attention is the interest of Red Cross women in men at the front "who have no one to remember them at home," one woman, Mme. Richelot, "being godmother to 900 soldiers, which constitutes a record to date."

All the battle fronts and hospitals of Europe bear witness to the wonderful work of the Red Cross, but the heroism displayed in the service does not always come to light. The unrecorded noble deeds of these devoted women would add brighter pages to the dark war's history.

An eminent authority says "there was a 'Shakespeare' many centuries before Shakespeare." It's a wonder the real one didn't make him immortal by mentioning him in one of his plays.

The Arkansas Democrat labels this, from The Ohio State Journal, "Solving One of Teddy's Future Problems:"

"Prominent naturalists tell us that the adjutant or marabout bird of India stands five feet high from base to topmost peak, measures 15 feet from tip to tip of wings, frequently swallows a rabbit or a cat whole, and is otherwise so interesting a specimen that we should think Colonel Roosevelt would feel like going over to India and discovering it after election, when he won't have anything special to do around home."

There to pay never-ending tribute
To the soldier that couldn't be bought;
And they'll think, and dream, and wonder
At the lesson of this good day;
For Honor crowns the proud form yonder
In patriot Confederate gray!

When they lay the last old hero
In the bosom that gave him birth—
Wrapp'd in the stainless Stars and Bars,
That for him enfolded the earth;
We'll spread his grave with forget-me-nots,
Then wreathe it with violets of truth,
And carve upon his spotless head-board:
"Here lies a hero from youth."

Our Southern hearts will wear deep mourning
For valiant knighthood laid away!
How dark and long will be the shadows
That fall athwart the sleeping gray!
Clouds will linger over our Southland,
As sombre recollections come!
And tears will fall from sorrowing patriots
For valor in its last long home!

Then our minds will turn to Manassas
To revel in the first great fight;
Where the foe was driven—disastrous—
Back, back, in the gloom and the blight;
And the long, trying siege of Vicksburg,
Where mighty odds were held at bay!
The triumph of dash at Cold Harbor,
By our hero who wore the gray.

The intrepid charges of Pickett,
And the boys who fell in the right!
The courageous sword of Beauregard,
That gleamed in the thick of the fight.
The dash of our troops at Marye Heights!
Tom Cobb fell dead in the gray!
The terrible carnage at Franklin!
Pat Cleburne, hero of the day!

The route of the foe at Brice's Cross Roads,
By Forrest, our wizard, the brave!
The splendor of worn troops at Atlanta,
Under Hood, who hated the knave!
The dauntless spirit of Robert E. Lee—
Rivaling the splendor of day!
The patriot glory of Jeff Davis—
Our martyr in the cause of the gray.

The dash of madness at Murfreesboro,
Where blood of the brave was as rain!
The battle 'gainst odds 'round Chickamauga,
Our Bragg—and the enemy slain.
The work of the bayonet at Sharpsburg—
There Lee drove McClelland to bay!
The charges of death at Pine Mountain,
Where Polk fell victor in gray!

The val'rous battle of Gettysburg—
Paul Semmes met death on the height!
The dark'ning gloom of Chancellorsville,
Where our "Stonewall" fell at night!
The heartrending moments at Shiloh!
Sidney Johnston had won the day!
The sorrowing scene at Appomattox,
For the daring who wore the gray.

The heroism of Rodes and Buckner—
Of Kershaw, Finnegan, and Grimes;
The valor of Colquitt and Evans—
Hardee and Berry—soul-tried times!
We'll think of brave Cheatham in action:
"Give 'em hell, boys!" he was wont to say.
Once more of our Stonewall's exaction:
"Death to the invader!" then pray.

We'll cherish the names of Bee and Hill,
Of Early, Bartow, and Vance;
We'll enshrine Kirby Smith and Walker,
And the valiant Stuart's lance.
We'll dream of the raids of Morgan,
And his mangled form in the gray!
Of Stephen Lee, Hampton, and Wheeler,
And Gordon, on the Twelfth of May.

We'll sing of Price, Ewell, and Walthall—
Of Barksdale, Perry, and Wright;
The old yell again for Davis and Lee,
And our Dixie lads in the fight.
We'll live, boys, for those knights of story,
Until the last forgotten day!
For the mothers who bore them in glory,
To shine in the mist of the gray!

'Tis over—and they're all departed!
Those knights of honor and truth!
They are gone, alas, forevermore!
Those patriots of manhood and youth.
And the nation will see them never—
Until the last immortal day!
For the last one has gone to gather
With crowned knights who wore the gray!

The Call of the Maytime.

I.

Hearken, Dearie, the Maytime is calling
To follow where lances of sunflashes lie
On the young grasses, wild rose and clover
Beneath Morning's resplendent opaline sky.

II.

Such witchery of leaf-shadows falling—
Pale anemones on greening banks a-bloom—
And whispering airs sweet with violets breathing,
With woodbine lighting the labyrinth's gloom.

III.

Come, then, Dearie, the Maytime is calling,
We follow her way with soft, loitering feet
Under bright boughs where hawthorn is mingling
Its perfume with crabapple's passionate sweet!

IV.

Down in the lowlands elders are weaving
Their fairy laces where the little ferns lean,
Honeysuckle trumpets, dew-wet and tippling,
And grasses bejeweled, all vivid and green.

V.

Twittering birds in the tree-tops calling,
Hearken, Dearie, how the purple shadows creep—
When a slender Moon through the mist is lifting
Her flower-face from silvery depths of sleep.

VI.

Quivering stars the trackless blue are gemming,
And lily-bells ring low vesper chime;
For aye, Dearie, in our two hearts, the luring
To follow the call of the glad Maytime!

My Childhood's Home.

(A Poem Attributed to Abraham Lincoln, Published by Request.)

My childhood's home I long to see
And sadden with the view
And still as memory crowds my brain,
There's pleasure in it, too.

O memory! Thou midway world
Twixt earth and Paradise,
Where things decayed and loved ones lost
In dreamy shadows rise.

And freed from all that's earthly vile
Seem hallowed pure and bright
Like scenes in some enchanted isle
All bathed in liquid light.

As dusky mountains please the eye
When twilight chases day;
As bugle notes that passing by:
In distance die away;

As leaving some grand waterfall
We, lingering, list its roar,
So memory will hallow all
We've known but know no more.

Near twenty years have passed away
Since here I bid farewell
To woods and fields and scenes of play:
And playmates loved so well.

Where many were, but few remain,
Of old familiar things,
But seeing them to mind again
The lost and absent brings.

The friends I left that parting day
How changed as time has sped!
Young childhood grown strong, manhood gray,
And half of all are dead.

I hear the loved survivors tell
How naught from death could save,
Till every sound appears a knell
And every spot a grave.

I range the fields with pensive tread
And pace the hollow rooms,
And feel companion of the dead—
I'm living in the tombs.

"FOLLY AND SIN OF GAMBLING" DISCUSSED BY REV. W. A. LEE

Rev. William A. Lee preached a sermon at the Central Congregational church on Sunday morning on "The Folly and the Sin of Gambling." Mr. Lee did not discuss the politics of gambling as they may bear upon the existence of local gambling houses. He spoke wholly from the moral standpoint, exhibiting the ravages which this vice makes upon life.

In introducing the theme, Mr. Lee remarked that certain conditions of modern American life make it incumbent upon the pulpit to give heed to the great social problems and vices of the day or lose its power. These are the practical character of the age which tests all things by standards of visible usefulness; our rule by public opinion, inevitable under popular government; and the very large measure of freedom given today to our youth, a circumstance that calls for corresponding care in their moral enlightment.

In his discussion of gambling, Mr. Lee declared that it was the foe of the gambler, striking at his inherent instinct and capacity for work, desecrating his life by casting out all of its finer qualities and setting up in their stead elements gross and ruinous.

He further declared gambling to be the foe of youth. It strikes at his home, affecting it economically and morally. It further strikes at his sport, especially through baseball pools, and clean play is as much the right of youth as pure water.

"Gambling is also the foe of the state," he said. "The testing ground of democracy will be its ability to respect and enforce the laws which it places upon its own statute books. Already there is abundant evidence that the country over is lacking in this respect. To perpetuate gambling to further weaken the country in that regard is the height of folly."

OPERA SEASON A GREAT SUCCESS, DECLARES PRESIDENT W. L. PEEL

The great stage of the Auditorium yesterday was swept and garnished of the gorgeous scenery of opera week and was deserted by the great crowds which had thronged its doors for the last week.

The hundreds of members of the Metropolitan Opera company were leaving upon practically every train going out of Atlanta all day Sunday. The thousands of opera week visitors have departed and Atlanta has heaved a sigh of satisfaction and relaxation after a strenuous and glorious week.

The opera singers have gone, some to New York and others upon more or less extended concert tours. And one or two will sail for Europe in a short while.

Opera next year?

Just as sure as the last week of April is on the calendar.

"The seventh season of opera was a great success, artistically, financially and in every other way," said Colonel W. L. Peel, president of the Atlanta Music Festival association, "and there is not the slightest doubt but that Atlanta will have the Metropolitan Opera company here again next spring.

"The increasing out-of-town attendance and the increasing interest of Atlanta in opera is very gratifying.

"More people from outside Atlanta attended grand opera this year than ever before in the history of opera in this city. There was also evidence that Atlanta is taking a deeper and more appreciative interest in grand opera. At first Atlanta went to hear opera to some extent out of curiosity. Atlanta now goes to hear opera because she understands, appreciates and loves opera. This is shown by the close attention which the audiences pay to the operas and to the lack of moving about and of people leaving the house during songs or performances, which was in evidence in the first years of opera in Atlanta."

JEWISH CONGRESS IS INDORSED AT MASS MEETING HELD SUNDAY

Resolutions indorsing the coming Jewish Congress, democratically chosen, were passed last night at a largely attended mass meeting held at the Educational Alliance building after the purposes of the congress had been explained by four speakers, two of them delegates to the recent meeting in Philadelphia, at which the congress was decided upon.

The speakers included W. Woods White, Richard A. Friedson, Rabbi Hyman Solomon, Leonard J. Grossman, Joel Dorfan and Dr. L. C. Rouglin, president of the local Jewish Congress committee, who presided.

Rabbi Hyman Solomon spoke of the future of the congress, Richard A. Friedson discussed the two picturesque climaxes of the convention, and Leonard J. Grossman submitted the report in detail as to what was said and done in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia Meeting.

Mr. Grossman said, in part:

"We are met as patriotic Americans and loyal Jews to lay the noble cause of the Jewish Congress before the conscience of our fellow citizens in Georgia. The passion for democracy and equal rights was the consuming thought of the conference recently adjourned in Philadelphia. It is, therefore, primarily as an American that I anticipate the great need in Georgia of a general understanding of the ideal of which the Jewish Congress is an expression.

"It is not alone our function to address this report to our people Israel, but to all Americans. And in attempting to bring to the people of my state some of the noble inspiration of the conference, I approach the task assigned me with those anxious and prayerful presentiments which the greatness of the task and the weakness of my powers so justly inspire."

Mr. Grossman drew a picture of the patriotic setting of the conference, saying:

"In the shadows of Independence hall, where 140 years ago the spirit of democracy rose to its sublime heights in the signing of the Declaration of Independence, addressing the democratically chosen representatives of God's chosen people, in this cradle of liberty, Judge Hugo Pam, president of the conference, properly described all this as prophetic of the future of the Jewish people.

"All possible phases of Jewish life assemble willingly to forget those things on which they disagreed, for the purpose of bringing into creation a force so vibrant with life and hope for our suffering fellow Jews, that all Israel will be compelled by the force of public opinion to take the right stand by the great majority for the congress, democratically chosen. The doors are open wide and the congress will speak for all Israel save those who chose to exclude themselves."

He described the 357 degeates, representing one million organized American Jews, who participated in their election as they filed into the convention hall, earnest of countenance and determined.

Continuing, he said: "Swinging out over the heads of the delegates from the speaker's platform were two white doves, which symbolized the peace and unanimity with which all disagreements were finally settled. There are no disagreements among Jewish people regarding the great purpose for which the congress is convened, the only point in controversy being the basis of representation, which the conference decided should be democratically chosen by the masses of the Jewish people.

"Standing for all which makes for forgiveness, tranquility and love, the Jewish Congress will rise above the factional passions of the hour," said Mr. Grossman, in conclusion.

Welcomes Congress Movement.

In a few well-chosen words, President Rouglin opened the meeting and introduced W. Woods White, who, speaking for Governor Harris, officially welcomed the launching of the congress movement in Georgia, for the especial reason that it means increasing democracy in the administration of Jewish affairs. "I convey the governor's kindest regards and appreciation of your humanitarian program," he said. Mr. White was enthusiastically received when introduced to the large audience which taxed the capacity of the hall.

Discussing the possibilities of the congress with especial reference to the organization of a Georgia conference which will provide machinery for sending delegates to the national body, Rabbi Hyman Solomon urged the purpose of the congress was to alleviate the persecution of European Jews, which he described.

Stressing the two picturesque climaxes of the Philadelphia conference, Richard A. Friedson delivered an able address. He described in detail the successful compromise on two questions which it had been predicted would disrupt the congress. One was the basis of representation, which is to be democratic—universal suffrage of all Jewish men and women determining the membership of the congress. The second vital question which the speaker discussed was whether the congress should be convened before the first of the year, which was decided in the affirmative.

The commanding figure of Rabbi Stephen Wise, of the free synagogue in New York, was described by Mr. Friedson as the great conciliator of the conference.

Then Joel Dorfan, speaking in Yiddish, delighted his hearers with a complete discussion of the congress question, covering in his picturesque way the subject of the congress, and the likelihood that Palestine will again become as predicted in scriptures, a land of poetry peopled with Jews.

HONESTY

BY GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Honesty is so hard to define that most people do not tackle the job except for the benefit of their neighbors.

The dictionary, which is one of our most successful side-steppers, says "honesty is freedom from fraud or guile." It forgets to mention that honesty usually means freedom from money also.

The proverb says honesty is the best policy. It is amazing to see how many people have a horror of playing policy.

The old Spartans admired honest greatly. Stealing was honest in their eyes, but getting caught with the goods was a great crime. The recent bribery investigations have revealed the fact that the United States senate is full of Spartans.

Some men are so honest that they will

Wouldn't steal a man's money so long as they can get it by selling him stock in a defunct gold mine.

not steal a man's money so long as they can get it by selling him stock in a defunct gold mine. Other men would shudder with horror at the thought of selling decaying mining stock when the same results can be obtained in a perfectly legal manner by borrowing the money and going into bankruptcy with no visible assets.

Many men are so honest that they will not steal a pin. But they would hold the coat of a personal friend while he stole a battleship. Still others decline to steal anything at all, preferirng to leave the job to litigation, which usually gives excellent satisfaction.

There are also men with whom you could trust your watch with perfect safety, but who would take a stock company away from you with a merry laugh.

Some men are honest in small things, because there is no profit in piker pilfering. Others are honest in large things, because there is less risk in small packages.

Thus it is to be seen plainly that the standards of honesty vary as widely as plurality guesses by leaders of opposite parties. Standards vary in legislatures also. In some the members are so honest that they will only sell their votes for political support. In others the members will not accept money and would indignantly return the bundles they find in their pockets if they had time and could remember to do it. In still others, when a member doesn't pawn his desk and chair, he runs for re-election on his good record.

It will not do for us to judge the honesty of others by our own—for others are judging our honesty by theirs and are looking at us with horror as they do so.

The Chrysalis.

I.

Life's labors done,
Life's last goal won,
Ready to rest,
Where none molest,
He to the grave,
His body gave,
His soul to God;

II.

Thus, 'neath the sod,
There only is
A chrysalis;
A thing of earth,
Of little worth,
Which God designed
To hold and bind
The soul, till He,
To set it free,
Did break its bars
And bade it speed on glorious wings
For aye to live with deathless things,
Beyond the stars.

JOHN BARLEYCORN DIES IN GEORGIA

Sale of Intoxicants Now Barred in State by Law, and Only Small Quantity Can Be Secured From Outside Borders.

WHISKY QUARTERS OPEN.

The Southern Express company will open quarters at 46-8 West Hunter street today for the purpose of handling whisky and other liquor shipments into Atlanta.

The company does not expect a heavy rush of shipments for several days, for the reason that indications are that a considerable supply of liquor has already been purchased by individual consumers.

The express company will handle liquor shipments exclusively at the Hunter street offices, and all deliveries will be made there in person to the consignee. The company will make no wagon deliveries.

The railroads have issued instructions to their employees as to the transportation and delivery of liquor shipments. These shipments will be delivered at the regular freight offices of the various railroads.

John Barleycorn died a calm and serene death in Atlanta last night as the clock struck 12, marking the advent of May 1 and the enforcement of the new Georgia prohibition laws.

The last day of the sale of liquor in Atlanta was not different from any other Sunday in Atlanta. The locker and other clubs stayed open, as usual, and sold alcoholic drinks, although the stocks of many were almost exhausted by the Saturday night patronage. One or two clubs were limited almost exclusively to stocks of small quantities of one or two kinds of liquor. Scotch whisky was very scarce.

The beer saloons sold out their stocks Saturday night.

There will be no beer saloons open in Atlanta today, and none of the clubs will sell whisky of any sort.

While there was undoubtedly more beer, whisky and other intoxicants consumed in Atlanta Sunday than is ordinarily the case, due to the fact that Sunday was the last day of the sale of liquor, the entire day was marked by no disorder and little drunkenness.

There is no doubt that the new laws will be strictly enforced in Atlanta. The city and county police have been ordered to use the closest diligence and enforce the law to the utmost, waging a relentless warfare on blind tigers.

ROAD HOUSES CLOSED IN CHATHAM COUNTY

Savannah, Ga., April 30.—(Special.) Savannah entered upon the dry period quite calmly today. The revelry lasted until several hours after midnight Saturday night, but there were no serious disorders. The police were inclined to be indulgent during the few hours of grace, and while a number of cases of drunkenness were made, many acts of minor disorders were overlooked.

The town was closed tight today. Sheriff Dixon and a squad of deputies visited all of the country road houses this afternoon and even failed to find a crack out there. His investigation was the result of a challenge issued through a weekly newspaper published in Savannah which sought to take him to task for raiding a certain notorious place last week.

There is no danger of Savannahians being very dry for some weeks to come. All who were able to do so laid in ample supplies Saturday. Nearly every other man carried a suit case when he went home to supper Saturday night. Those who were not able to invest in something for a dry day, will be thrown upon their resources. The general impression is that the law will be rigidly enforced in Savannah. Certain it is that saloon people have accepted this view and have disposed of their stocks. Some of the leading downtown places will remain open and lunches and soda water will be sold.

FINE MENU IS PROMISED

Patrons of Friends of St. Philip's Parish Invited.

Beginning today a series of delightful dinners, with such delicacies as stuffed ham, hot buttermilk biscuits and hot egg-bread will be featured on the daily menu of dinners, served from 12:30 to 2 p. m., following with supper from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. All friends of St. Philips parish are cordially invited to come. Dinners, 50 cents; suppers, 35 cents.

34TH ANNUAL SERMON PREACHED SUNDAY BY REV. E. R. CARTER

The members and friends of Friendship Baptist church turned out in large numbers yesterday at 11 o'clock to hear the pastor, Rev. E. R. Carter, preach his thirty-fourth annual sermon as pastor of this church. Something of the history of the church during the past thirty-four years was given during the course of the sermon. The speaker took his text from the ninetieth Psalm and the first verse: "Lord, Thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations." A special "rally" was made in the interest of the boys' reformatory, that this church, under the leadership of Dr. Carter, is erecting about 8 miles from the city. In addition to this, this congregation has built and has run for years an "Old Folks' home."

FOUND DEAD IN BED, WITH POISON BY SIDE

Coroner Will Investigate Death of Guest of the Georgia Hotel on Monday.

A man thought to be John F. Rose from papers found among his effects was found dead in his bed at the Georgia hotel, 22½ West Mitchell street, shortly after 7 o'clock Sunday night, death having been caused from the effects of the contents of a two-ounce bottle of carbolic acid. The empty bottle was found tightly clutched in his right hand.

The aged man came to the hotel about two weeks ago, according to information gained there last night. He registered from Birmingham, Ala., and, according to reports around the hotel, no one seemed to know much about him.

The last seen of him was Saturday morning when the clerk at the hotel saw him go into his room.

Not seeing Rose, or hearing of him all day Sunday, attaches of the hotel entered the room by means of a pass key shortly after 7 o'clock.

Rose was found lying across his bed, fully undressed. He had been dead apparently about 12 hours.

The body was removed to the chapel of A. O. & Roy Donehoo, where efforts will be made to find relatives or friends.

Papers which were found about the room showed that the man was a member of A. F. & A. M. lodge of McComb City, Miss.

An inquest will be held over the body some time Monday.

NEGROES URGED TO ASSIST IN CAPTURE OF "BLIND TIGERS"

In his sermon on "The New Prohibition Law in Georgia" at the First Congregational church, colored, last night, Dr. H. H. Proctor made a strong plea to his people to observe the law in spirit as well as in letter.

"I am desirous," he said, "that every one of the million and a quarter colored people in Georgia keep this law in spirit as well as in letter. Our interest as a race lies in the observance of all law and order, and especially in this law. It will help us financially, for our money is hard-earned, and should be spent wisely. It will help us in law and order, as most of the crime is inspired by strong drink. It will help us morally, for drunkeness drags down everything and builds up nothing.

"Not only am I desirous of each member of the colored race keeping the law himself, but also that he shall use his influence in helping others to keep it. The man who will vend liquor as a 'blind tiger' is an enemy to the race and the community. As such he should be reported to the authorities. The officers cannot uproot this evil without the co-operation of the people. I call upon every man of the race to stand by the officers of the law in putting all 'blind tigers' in the chaingang."

METHODISTS SUPPORT PRESIDENT WILSON

Saratoga Springs, April 30.—Assurance that Methodists of the United States were in sympathy with President Wilson's efforts to keep the nation from becoming involved in the European war, was voiced here today by Bishop Earl Cranston, of Washington, D. C. Bishop Cranston, who will open the twenty-seventh general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here tomorrow, was addressing a preliminary service.

"I would assure the president of the United States," Bishop Cranston said, "that whatever temporary backsliding may happen when a few Methodists here or yonder may fall under the spell of a magnetic political leader the great body of our people are in full sympathy with all of his patriotic and Christian endeavors to keep this nation out of the European embroilment.

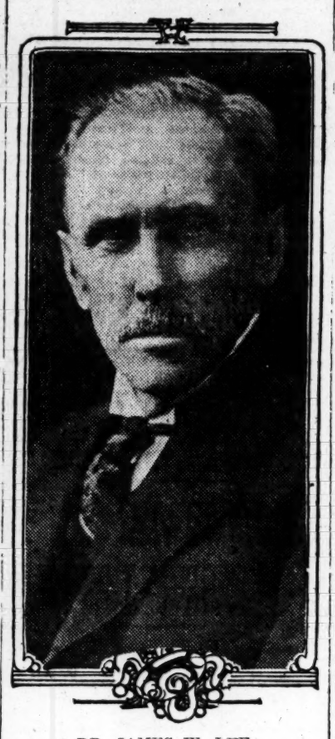

"We Methodists do not believe that it is patriotic for a few Americans to insist upon their technical right to travel at sea in such a time as this, for personal reasons, at the risk of bringing the horrors and desolations of war upon millions of their fellow Americans."

Bishop Cranston indorsed the plan proposed for the union of the northern and southern branches of the church, which is to be considered by the general conference.

DR. J. W. LEE PREACHES BERRY BACCALAUREATE

Love of God Makes Happy, Useful Citizens, He Tells Students.

Rome, Ga., April 30.—(Special.)—Dr. James W. Lee, now of St. Louis, but formerly one of the foremost pastors of Atlanta, this morning preached the baccalaureate sermon to pupils of Miss Martha Berry's school, giving the graduating class a simple but forceful talk on how to make the most out of life. This problem was solved by Dr. Lee with a text from Jude—"Keep yourselves in the love of God." With striking illustrations he showed that a life who delivered baccalaureate sermon at Berry school Sunday.

DR. JAMES W. LEE,

otherwise dreary and barren became, through practical application of this text, warmed and quickened into happy usefulness.

"The white light of God's love in Jesus Christ finds and illuminates the hidden recesses of the soul, and the chambers of imagry, where dark and damning thoughts moved about like so many ghosts from the lower regions, are made at once as light as day," he declared.

The need of God's love to enable us to appreciate the beautiful things of life was then stressed. "Within ourselves is the machinery for loving. What is needed is that the power which flows from the heart of God may flow into our affections."

Escape from the commonplace may be truly effected only by bringing the heart and mind into commerce with the goodness and tenderness of the Almighty and by the same means the proper view of life and a healthy moral atmosphere can be attained. As a contrast to this Dr. Lee cited the case of Ingersoll, as follows:

"Dr. Henry M. Field says that almost the first words he ever heard from Robert Ingersoll were, 'Life is very sad to me, there is not much to it.' To any man who looks at life through any other medium than the love of God, there must appear to be not much to it. From the cradle to the grave there are but a few steps, and even these few are made through toil and sorrow. If God does not love us there is not much to life. If He does not love us it is hardly a doubtful question whether it is better to be or not to be. But when we look at life through the love of God, it comes to be infinitely significant. The universe becomes luminous with meaning when we look at it through the love of God."

GIRLS WILL ASSIST TECH "MARIONETTES" IN THE NEXT PLAY

The Tech "Marionettes" will play Booth Tarkington's "Monsieur Beaucaire" at the Atlanta theater Saturday night, May 20, and for the first time in the history of Georgia Tech talented Atlanta girls will be used in the feminine roles.

The "Marionettes" have always used Tech students in the feminine roles, but due to the difficulty attached to playing the feminine parts in Tarkington's great book, a change of policy has been decided on.

Miss Carolyn Cobb has been engaged as coach for "Monsieur Beaucaire."

This play is an interesting story of a gallant young Frenchman. Tarkington's great character is typical, and "Monsieur Beaucaire" might have lived in any nation or clime. The character has been immortalized by Richard Mansfield's portrayal.

MRS. ROLAND AND SON NARROWLY ESCAPE FROM BURNING HOME

Dublin, Ga., April 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. C. W. Roland and her young son Winton, were painfully burned in escaping from their burning dwelling here at 4 o'clock this morning. Both were sleeping in the same room, being the only persons in the house, when they were awakened by flames bursting through the wall of the room and cutting off all escape except through a window.

Winton managed to get the window open in time for them to escape to a porch, but they were painfully burned. They saved only the night clothes they had on. The house and contents were a total loss, partially covered by insurance.

Recital at Ebenezer.

The Morehouse college orchestra and Glee club will give a recital at Ebenezer Baptist church this evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. A. D. Williams, the pastor in charge, has planned a program in connection with the recital on which a number of the ablest speakers and friends of the college will deliver short addresses. No admission will be charged, but a free will offering will be taken for the new building fund of the college. Ebenezer Baptist church is on the corner of Auburn avenue and Jackson street.

"Merrimac" Officer Tells Of Battle With "Monitor"

Attending the Memorial day parade last Wednesday was a Georgia veteran, stalwart and strong yet for all his years, who had more to do with the revolutionizing of modern warfare than any man in the state of Georgia. This man is Captain E. V. White, formerly of Georgia, now of Norfolk, Va., who has the distinction of being one of the two surviving officers of the famous iron-clad "Merrimac," whose historic encounter with the "Monitor," in Hampton Roads, March 8, 1862, marked the passage of the old-fashioned wooden man-of-war and the advent of the great steel sea-fighters of today. The other living officer of that famous ship is Captain H. H. Marmaduke, of Washington, D. C.

Captain White is a close friend of Governor Harris, and called upon him while here. He visited Frank J. Massenburg, of 517 North Boulevard, during opera week. He left Atlanta Saturday for Macon, where he will spend some time.

CAPT. E. V. WHITE,
of Norfolk, Va., survivor of the Merrimac.

A Native of Macon.

Captain White is a native of Macon, Ga. At the outbreak of the civil war, however, he was living in Columbus, and there joined the City Light guard, of Columbus. His command was stationed at Portsmouth at the time of the construction of the "Merrimac" upon the burned hulk of the old ship, and he conceived the idea of being among the number who would test the qualities of this new engine of destruction and made application for a position. He was appointed January 16, 1862, and two days later reported for duty. His position was that of junior engineer and he was placed on the gun-deck in charge of the engine room gong and speaking tube.

Captain White talks interestingly of the havoc wrought by the "Merrimac" among the wooden vessels of the union in Hampton Roads, March 8, 1862, and also of the fight between the "Monitor" and the "Merrimac" on the day following.

Concerning this first encounter between iron-clad ships, Captain White says:

"On the morning of Sunday, March 8, 1862, the 'Merrimac' started out to complete the work of the destruction of the then almost abandoned 'Minnesota,' even while our own ship was taking water freely, her iron prow having been left in the 'Cumberland' when we rammed her on the day before. Shortly after we got under way, however, we went aground on what is known as the 'middle ground' of Hampton Roads, and there we stuck for a considerable time.

"But before we had grounded, the 'Monitor' was discovered coming out from where the 'Minnesota' lay aground, appearing to us, as she had been called, 'a cheese-box' or a tin can on a shingle.' It was not long before she was recognized as the Ericsson 'Monitor,' and we opened fire upon her with our bow rifle, but with no effect. Straight on she came toward us, and when in good position let loose her heavy guns, giving us a good shaking up.

Greek Meets Greek.

"Thus she continued circling around us, and every now and then throwing the heavy missiles against our sides. We, in response, as she passed around, brought every gun aboard our ship to bear upon her. It was now 'Greek meeting Greek,' iron against iron. Hundred-pound shot rattled against the mailed and impenetrable sides of the combatants in this tremendous duel, and glanced off like hail. Never before had ships met carrying such heavy guns. From both vessels the firing was executed with great rapidity and with equal skill, with but little effect on either.

"However, our weak points seemed to be known to the commander of the 'Monitor,' and so well did he attack these that soon, on the starboard midship, over the outbound delivery, he so bent our plating that the massive oak timbers were cracked, and from this and the continued ricochet shots of the 'Minnesota,' considerable concern was beginning to be felt by our commander and all on board. Soon, however, we were relieved by the moving of our ship from the position which, for such a trying period, we had occupied.

"Then, with a settled determination on the part of our commander to run the 'Monitor' down as a last resort, seeing that our shots were ineffective, I was directed to convey to the engine room orders for every man to be at his post. We caught and did run into the 'Monitor,' and came near running her under the water and drove against her with a determination of sending her to the bottom, and so nearly did we come to accomplishing our object with the ramming and shots from our rifles that blinded her commander, that she withdrew to shoal water near the 'Minnesota,' where, by reason of our heavy draft, we could not follow."

TRAINING CAMP READY AT FORT OGLETHORPE

Military Course for Business and Professional Men of South Begins May 3.

Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., April 30.—The camp site and the regular army officers and men here are ready for the opening of the southern military training camp on May 3. While business and professional men of the south, who will go into training, will be put through all the hard practice the regular soldier is accustomed to, they will not have to pitch their own tents. The camp will be ready for their reception, but after that they will be expected to live the life of a regular from cleaning company streets to the more spectacular features of military life.

The number that will begin the practice is problematical. Before the postponement from April 3 to May 3, occasioned by the withdrawal of the Eleventh cavalry to Mexico, it was said approximately 600 southerners had signified their intention of being here. Many more than this, however, were expected to come at the last moment. One corporation having employees in nearly every southern town has arranged to give any employee a month's leave with full pay should he wish to attend the camp.

Lieutenant Colonel D. W. Ketcham with a battalion of coast artillery from Fortress Monroe will be in command. Captain George A. Purvington with Troop A, Second cavalry, is here and also Captain Herman J. Koehler, master-of-the-sword at West Point, who will have charge of the physical instruction.

The camp has been provided with electric lights, telephone and the latest sanitary equipment. Field pieces have been placed for those who desire artillery training, and there will be engineering and signal instruction.

NEW PASTOR TELLS PEOPLE OF MISSION OF RUSH MEMORIAL

Rev. James Bond, D. D., the new pastor of the Rush Memorial Congregational church, is in the city and preached for his people at the morning service. A large audience greeted him. He took for his text these words: "Who Is Sufficient for These Things?" And made this the basis for the outline of the work he proposed to do. He spoke of the great opportunity before the church and of the building operations which are to be started at an early date.

He outlined the mission of Rush Memorial Congregational church in the following language: "It is the mission of this church to make the west side the safest in the city of Atlanta for boys and girls, men and women. It is our business to make this section of the city the most beautiful and healthy of any in this great town."

PAINFUL TETTER ON HANDS AND FACE

Broke Out in Red Splotches. Would Itch and Burn. Could Not Put Hands in Water.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"Since childhood I had been a sufferer from tetter. My hands and face would break out in great red splotches which would itch and burn and be quite painful at times. The skin was very sore and inflamed and the itching would get so bad that I would just have to scratch the parts affected. At times I could not put my hands in water and I could not go out in the wind. It was very disfiguring and I looked horrid.

"Then I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I saw at once that it relieved me. I then got a large box of Ointment and a cake of Soap and the result was simply marvelous for in two months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. J. R. Furrow, 1257 Windsor Ave., Bristol, Tenn., July 15, 1915.

AGED DUBLIN MERCHANT FOUND SLAIN IN STORE

Two Negroes Held in Connection With the Killing of T. M. Tarpley.

Dublin, Ga., April 30.—(Special.)—T. M. Tarpley, a white man, was found dead in his store at the eastern end of the river bridge this morning at 9 o'clock with his skull crushed in and his jawbone broken. A burning lamp and the stiffness of his body indicated that he had died early in the night. Indications are that he was murdered and robbed, as a canvas bag in which he carried a quantity of silver was gone, though bills to the amount of $33 were found in his pockets. Two negroes, Coot Minton and Starling Wiley, are in jail in connection with the killing, while a coroner's jury is still probing the case to discover others believed to be in the plot.

A negro woman living about fifty yards from the store stated that between 9 and 10 o'clock last night she heard Tarpley close up and come out the rear side door. Someone hailed him as he came out. After a few words she heard both go back into the store. This was not unusual, and she went to sleep.

This morning her husband, Coot Minton, went out on the porch of his house at 4 o'clock and stated he saw a light in a crack under Tarpley's door. This was unusual, but they did not investigate until a white man came to see Tarpley and found him lying on the floor dead.

Tarpley was 70 years of age, harmless and without an enemy so far as is known. He had been keeping store around Dublin for years. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Raford, of Cochran, and two sisters, Mrs. Fraser, of Gordon, and Mrs. Jane Tillery, of Dublin.

A pair of shoes found under the store by Sheriff Watson have been identified as Minton's.

SPIRITS WILL WALK MYSTIFYINGLY AT FORSYTH THEATER

Illusions of compelling interest and so mystifying as almost to make one believe that "speerits" still walk, will bewilder Forsyth audiences this week when the "Queen of Magic," Adelaide Herrmann, appears as one of the features of the Keith vaudeville bill Manager George H. Hickman will offer.

Mme. Herrmann is the widow of Herrmann the Great and is the only person who holds the secrets of the illusions which made her husband the most mystifying of magicians. In addition to the most bewildering of the tricks of Herrmann the Great, she will introduce a series of surprising novelties.

One of the singular features about Mme. Herrmann's offering is the fact that she executes her powers of dexterity on a brilliantly lighted stage and does not resort to the diverting subterfuge of a monologue. Billiard balls disappear beneath a glaring electric light and no one can fathom the secret. The "Queen of Magic," among other illusions, reveals the "Sleeping Beauty," a feat in which, with entrancing perplexity she suspends a young girl in mid-air with no suggestion of any agency save that which was used ages ago to make the weird trickery of East Indian fakirs the wonder of the civilized world.

CRACKERS REACH FIVE HUNDRED MARK

Edited by DICK JEMISON

Exciting Game Copped; Gulls Rally in the Ninth; Moran's Work Features

By G. J. Flournoy.

Mobile, Ala., April 30.—(Special.)—The Crackers made it two straight from Mobile this afternoon, defeating the Gulls 6 to 5 in a close and exciting game that was featured with a ninth inning rally on the part of the locals that came within one run of tying up the contest.

The visitors pounded Harris, the Gull hurler, for fifteen hits, but none of them were for extra bases. Wilson, who pitched the game for Atlanta, held the Gulls runless until the sixth inning, when he weakened and gave up two hits, a base on balls, and aided by an error by Clancy, on which the home team scored two runs. Wilson was wobbly after the sixth inning, and he was lucky to win his game.

Moran's Big Day.

Leftfielder Moran, of the Crackers, had a big day at the bat, getting four singles out of five times up, and scored two of the runs for his team. He also stole three bases. Three double plays figured in the contest.

Atlanta scored in the first inning when Moran, first up, singled to right. He was sacrificed to second by Mayer. While Harris held the ball, he stole third. Thrasher walked. McDonald beat out a hit down the first base line and when Harris threw wild, Moran scored, Thrasher going to second. Lennox hit to Dobard, who forced McDonald at second and Massey then doubled Lennox at first.

There was no more scoring by either side until the third. In this round, Wilson beat out a hit back of the pitcher. Moran got a safe hit back of second and Wilson went to the keystone. Mayer hit to Harris, who forced Wilson at third, Moran taking second on the play. Thrasher sent a short single to right and both runners advanced. McDonald hit to Massey at short, who fumbled and Moran scored. Mayer taking third and Thrasher second. Lennox grounded to Dobard, who threw wild to the plate and Mayer scored, Thrasher moving up to third. Perkins singled to left and Thrasher and McDonald scored, Lennox going to second. McMillan and Clancy went out on infield plays, ending the inning.

In the sixth Clancy walked, was sacrificed to second by Wilson, went to third on an infield out and scored on Thrasher's single to right. This was all the scoring that Atlanta did in the game, although they secured four hits in the seventh, but were unable to get a man across the plate.

Gulls Score.

The Gulls scored two runs in the sixth with two down. Massey dropped a Texas leaguer back of second and went to third on Burke's single to center. Swacina was walked, filling the bases. Wilcox grounded to McMillan and Massey scored. McMillan threw wild to third to get Burke and the runner was safe, and Swacina went to second. Whalen hit to McMillan, Clancy dropped his throw to get Wilcox and Burke scored. Dobard ended Mobile's chance for further scoring by going out from McMillan to Mayer.

A base on balls, an infield out and a triple by McDowell gave Mobile another run in the seventh.

In the ninth Wilson looked like he was all in. He hit Clark, the first man to face him. Bromwich, batting for Harris, doubled to left, sending Covington to third, who ran for Clark. Massey went out on a short fly to Moran. McDowell then beat out one to first, filling the bases. Burke hit a double against the left field fence, scoring Covington and Bromwich. McDowell attempted to score and was caught at the plate. Swacina ended all chances of a tie by being thrown out by McMillan.

Memphis, April 30.—Hemingway's single, the only hit allowed by Marshall, who went into the box for Chattanooga in the eighth with the score tied, opened the way to a 3 to 2 victory for Memphis today. Messenger's error advanced Hemingway to second, Graff's misplay put him on third and he scored on Walsh's sacrifice. Merritt, pitching for Memphis, was hit freely, but snappy fielding held down Chattanooga's score.

Kitchens, sent to bat as a pinch hitter for Chattanooga in the eighth, went to first on Hemingway's error and scored on Messenger's double.

Nashville, Tenn., April 30.—LeClaire allowed but one Nashville batter to reach third base and Little Rock blanked the locals, 7 to 0, today. Kroh was hit hard and retired in the seventh with the bases full and two out. Kirby greeted Wells with a two-bagger which scored the last two runs made by the visitors. Walker's hitting featured, the Little Rock left fielder reaching first safely on five occasions. He secured three singles, walked once and was hit once.

CRACKERS RETURN TO BIRMINGHAM

Play Three-Game Series With Barons—Games Will Be Detailed—Will Return Home on Thursday.

The Crackers will return to Birmingham today to complete their four-game series with the Barons. They played in Birmingham Friday, then went to Mobile. They will stop over in Birmingham today for the first of three games.

Scott Perry, who beat the Barons two games during the recent series played at Ponce de Leon, will probably work today's game against the Barons. His opponent is uncertain.

The three games in Birmingham will be called in detail by Dick Jemison at his baseball parlors on the Viaduct. The game starts at 3:30 o'clock today and the admission is 25 cents.

The Crackers return home Thursday for a long stretch of games. They play Mobile, Chattanooga, Memphis, Little Rock and Nashville in that order, jumping out of here for one game in Nashville next Sunday.

As the player and salary limit will be in effect when Chattanooga gets here, the final adjusting of the cogs in the Cracker machine will be made during the Mobile series, and then Frank may stand pat for a while.

Three World's Aviation Marks Broken Sunday

Newport News, Va., April 30.—Theodore McCauley broke three world's aviation records and set a new American mark with six passengers in a seven-passenger flying boat at the Atlantic Coast Aeronautical station here today. Victor Carlstrom established a new American altitude record with one passenger in a biplane.

McCauley surpassed the marks set by Giraix, of France, April 22, 1914, in duration with pilot and six passengers, and distance and speed. He remained in the air one hour, ten minutes, five and two-fifths seconds, against one hour, two minutes, twenty-five and three-fifth seconds by Giraix; traveled 88 miles against 68 by Giraix and covered 100 kilometers in 50 minutes and ten seconds, against 56 minutes and 44 seconds by Giraix. McCauley established an American altitude record with six passengers and pilot, ascending 950 feet.

Carlstrom, with one passenger, ascended 16,500 feet, exceeding by 2,000 feet the record made by Steve McGordon on April 10.

A party of congressmen, including Chairman Adamson and other members of the house interstate commerce committee, came from Washington on the coast guard cutter Apache to witness the flights.

Guyton and Mansfield Boys Win Constitution Badges for Athletics

Twenty pupils of the Mansfield High school of Mansfield, Ga., contested for The Constitution's athletic pins April 14 and six were returned winners. They were M. Harwell, John Oscar Adams, Harmon Adams, Fielder Adams, Leo Barber and Frank Hays.

Twelve pupils contested for the silver pins and five were returned the winners. They are Erwin Epps, Frank Greer, Worth Barber, Ewell Lunsford and John G. Adams.

Three boys of the South Atlantic institute at Guyton, Ga., won pins. They are Smith Cleatus, Newton Samuel and Sheareuse Warring.

The pins have been forwarded to these boys.

YELLOW JACKETS PLAY VANDERBILT

Teams Resume Their Series at Grant Field Today. Play Again on Tuesday Afternoon.

The Tech Yellow Jackets and the Vanderbilt Commodores resume their series this afternoon at Grant Field, the game starting at 3:30 o'clock. The teams played games in Nashville Friday and Saturday.

The series promises to be a hot one, as both teams are now traveling at a mighty fast clip.

GEORGE M'QUILLAN IS CHAMP STAGING COME-BACK STUNT

When it comes to pulling off comebacks, you gotta hand it to ol' George McQuillan, better known in the circles he adorns as "Big Mac." When the six-footer twirler joined the Phillies last year, and amassed a round dozen of the victories which gave his club the National league gonfalon, it marked his third appearance in the uniform of the Quaker hirelings. In the business of "beating back," Al Jennings, Oklahoma's ex-outlaw statesman, has nothing on "Big Mac."

George was born in Brooklyn thirty-one years ago today, on May day, 1885. He was a hero among his companions of the Brooklyn kid nines, and at the age of nineteen he was offered a job with Paterson, then in the Hudson River league. The Silk City soon set the seal of its approval on George, and in 1905 Big Mac was offered a job with the Jersey City Skeeters. He wasn't quite ripe for the Eastern league, and in June was sent to New Bedford, where "Rabbit" Maranville afterward got his start. In the New England city George won fourteen games against seven lost, and in 1906 he was recalled to Jersey City. His work with the Skeeters won for him his first chance with the Phillies in 1907. On his first trip up to the big show, George was used in only four games, and was then sent to Providence. He led all the pitchers of that fast league, winning nineteen games and losing only seven, and in September he was recalled to the Phillies. In the meantime, George had also played winter baseball in Cuba, under the name of Mack.

In 1908 Big George was the star of the Philadelphia twirling staff, winning twenty-three games and losing seventeen. In 1909 George did not do so well, and the great reputation he had achieved in his first year in the big show began to go glimmering. In 1910 he was seriously ill for a time, and even after his recovery he was apparently minus his old ambition, self-confidence and "pep." Red Dooin, who had succeeded Billy Murray as pilot of the Phillies, decided to get rid of him, and he figured in the deal by which he, Moran, Grant and Humphrey were swapped for Lobert, Paskert, Burns and Becker. The change to Cincinnati seemed to aggravate his condition, and he won only two games for the Reds in 1911. He was sold in mid-season to Columbus. He showed up fairly well in the American association in 1912, and in 1913 he began the season like a phenom. He had won twelve games for Columbus and lost only four by August, when he was traded to the Pirates. Last year the Phillies got him at the waiver price, and for the third time in his career Big Mac donned the garb of the Phillies. McQuillan has few equals in the big leagues in the matter of control.

GEORGIA-ALABAMA OPENS WEDNESDAY

Fourth Annual Season About to Open—Prospects Better—72-Game Schedule This Year.

The fourth annual season of the Georgia-Alabama league will be ushered in with the best prospects in the history of the league next Wednesday with the opening games scheduled as follows:

Newnan in Griffin.
LaGrange in Rome.
Talladega in Anniston.

This is the same personnel as comprised the league last season, though there have been several changes in players and some in managers as well.

Frank Manush is managing Rome, Tige Garrett, Talladega; Wade Reynolds, Anniston; Harry Matthews, Newnan; Grady Bowen, LaGrange, and Rip Reagan Griffin.

Dick Jemison, sporting editor of The Constitution, is president of the league this season, succeeding Innis Brown, resigned. Mr. Brown succeeded C. L. Bruner, of Talladega, who was president last year.

Umpires S. H. LaRocque, Art Milles and R. M. Riggs have been secured by President Jemison to handle the games. LaRocque will handle the Griffin opener, Riggs the Anniston, and Milles the Rome.

A player limit of 12 men and a salary limit of $850 will be in vogue, but will not go into effect until ten days after the opening of the season.

TRINITY TO VISIT GEORGIA THIS WEEK

Carolina Collegians Play Return Engagement With Red and Black.

The Trinity college nine of Durham, N. C., will play a return engagement of two games at Athens Wednesday and Thursday. Georgia recently visited Durham, winning the first game and tying the second after thirteen innings of hard battling.

The York State League.

This week will witness the inaugural of the twenty-first annual pennant chase of the New York State league, Wednesday having been set as the opening date for the circuit so ably conducted by J. H. Farrell, of Auburn, the perpetual secretary of the National Association of Minor Leagues. George Wiltse, the former Giant twirler and Jersey City pilot, is manager of the Albany club, and Amby McConnell, once second sacker of the Boston and Chicago Americans, has been hired to lead Utica. John Calhoun is leader of the champion Binghamtons, Louis Wachter at Troy, Mike O'Neil at Syracuse, William Conroy at Elmira, Joe McCarty at Wilkesbarre, and Bill Coughlin at Scranton.

WOMAN WHO TOOK MERCURY TABLETS LEAVES HOSPITAL

Mrs. Grace Einig, according to the name given the Grady hospital authorities Saturday night, or Mrs. W. I Hudson, as shown by the register of Child's hotel, where she was stopping who attempted suicide Saturday night by taking bichloride of mercury tablets, was released from the hospital Sunday. She was reported as very much improved and able to return to her room.

AMUSEMENTS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

The Queen of Magic, Adelaide Herrmann, will delight Forsyth audiences this week with the world's most mystifying illusions. She will head a bill of seven strong Keith vaudeville acts. Among additional acts Manager George H. Hickman will offer "The Luck of a Totem Pole," an elaborately-staged and unusual musical comedy, in which Harry Girard and Agnes Cain-Brown are featured; also Frank North, in a comedy sketch, "Back to Wellington;" Jack Donahue and Alice Marion Stewart in songs and dances; the Five Antwerp Girls, in a delightful musical offering; Edwin George, monologuist and Roy and Arthur, in a comedy juggling novelty.

"Salvation Joan."

(At the Piedmont.)

A society girl who prefers to renounce pertty clothes and debut parties in favor of the tambourine of the army, is the heroine of "Salvation Joan," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon special which is at the Piedmont theater Monday. Edna May, one time "Belle of New York," plays the part, returning to the screen for her first appearance since she married a millionaire several years ago. The entertainers at the Piedmont today are the Senate Three, harmony singers, and Dot Marsell, a whirlwind comedienne.

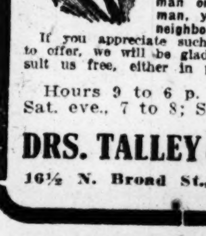

"David Garrick."

(At the Georgian.)

Dustin Farnum, heroic star of stage and screen, is presented by the Georgian theater management the first three days of the week in the immortal dramatic triumph, "David Garrick," which has one of the best of all stage productions. The picture was produced in the Famous Players studios, and Farnum has been given an ideal cast to support him. "David Garrick" shows up to better advantage in the screen version than either stage or story, and has been pronounced one of the season's greatest offerings. It will be presented at the Georgian theater with special adapted music by the Whitney Hubner orchestra.

Many Players of Same Name in Southern League

By Dick Jemison.

The scorers of the Southern league, but more particularly the compilers of averages, will have considerable trouble this year with the names of Southern league players.

There are several players of the same name playing on different clubs in the league. A list of them might interest.

Atlanta has a McDonald and so has Birmingham.

New Orleans has a Smith and so has Birmingham.

Chattanooga has a Harris and so has Mobile.

Mobile has a Clark and so has Birmingham.

Mobile has a Covington and so has Little Rock (brothers).

Nashville has a Marshall and so has Chattanoogaa.

Nashville has a Herbert. So did Chattanooga, but she released him recently.

Chattanooga had two Nicholsons, but she released both.

Memphis has a Grimes and so has Birmingham.

Memphis has a Robertson and so has Birmingham.

New Orleans has a Walker and so has Little Rock.

Then there are a few names that are nearly alike. For instance, Perry, of Atlanta, and Perryman, of Birmingham, Stark, of Memphis, and Starr, of Little Rock.

OFFICER IS INJURED IN FALL IN FACTORY

Officer J. C. McEwen, who works the Forsyth street beat, entered the plant of the National Pencil factory Sunday night to investigate a light in the rear of the building, and slipped in some manner, sustaining several bruises and an injured arm. He was taken to the hospital and later to his home.

"The First Thing in the Morning for Forty-Eight Years"

THE Constitution is the home paper of Atlanta. It is read more carefully, and has a better buying capacity behind it than any other. It reaches the well-to-do and the great middle-class---the best buyers on earth. It is Atlanta's only morning paper.

A large percentage of Atlanta's people are "Go-Fans"---they are "on the go" afternoons and nights seeking the particular form of amusement that most appeals to them. But no amusement of any kind interferes with the careful reading of The Constitution. It is read in the morning hours when the mind is clear and in a receptive mood. Hence---

PRICE OF COTTON HAD NARROW RANGE

Advance of 3 to 8 Points Was Net Change for the Week—New Crop Closely Watched.

New Orleans, April 30.—With many strong features at work last week the price of cotton still moved within a narrow range on this market chiefly as the result of the refusal of the outside trading public to take part. The ready acceptance of much larger May tenders than expected on first notice day for that position, the abnormally cold weather, the better outlook in political conditions, talk of a large increase in the acreage and the continued firmness of the spot market all failed to move prices except in a small way.

The high prices of the week were made Friday, when trading months were 6 to 12 points over the preceding week's close. The low prices were made Monday when the market stood 11 to 15 points under the previous week's finals. The net change for the week was a rise of 3 to 8 points.

It was generally considered that the new crop outlook was bullish because of the supposed injury done by cold weather. Slow germination, rotting of seed in the ground and loss of vitality in young plants were claimed. On the other hand, bearish traders brought forth evidence to show much more extensive planting than had been reported. At the end of the week the consensus of opinion was that the acreage would be increased by at least 10 per cent.

The trade is less inclined to pay attention to international politics than it has been in months. The desire in all quarters being to discount new crop conditions. This week will see the market more of a weather affair than it has been if political news is not too disturbing. Continued cold, especially if rain falls, would be regarded as highly unfavorable and would stimulate the demand for contracts. On the other hand, warmer weather, without much rain, would be regarded as ideal.

The spot situation will be watched closely because of the rumors that interior spot houses are trying to operate extensively in this market. Also the trade will want to see if cotton taken up on May contracts is being shipped out, bearish claims being that a good part of the 20,000 bales taken up on May contracts last week would be retendered against July.

BANK CLEARINGS IN UNITED STATES FOR THE PAST WEEK

Bank clearings in the United States for the past week, as reported to Bradstreet's Journal, New York, aggregate $4,390,505,000, against $4,582,354,000 the previous week and $3,238,026,000 in this week last year. Canadian clearings aggregate $149,144,000, as against $183,596,000 the previous week and $133,357,000 in this week last year.

Condition of Treasury.

Washington, April 30.—The condition of the United States treasury at the close of business Saturday was:

Net balance in general fund, $129,628,249.

Total receipts, $2,341,253.

Total payments, $1,783,141.

The deficit this fiscal year is $49,378,821 against a deficit of $97,077,151 last year, exclusive of Panama canal and public debt transactions.

LOSSES RECOVERED IN STOCK MARKET

Specialties Regained 5 to 10 Points — Broad Demand for Rails Was Potent Feature of Advance.

New York, April 30.—Traces of the anxiety which exercised such a depressing influence during the preceding period were not lacking last week, but the stock market recovered much lost ground. Specialties regained 5 to 10 points. The feature of the list was the International Mercantile Marine issues, especially the preferred stock, which rose from 74 to 91 on change of control and imminent settlement of its long existing legal difficulties.

Perhaps the most potent factor in the rise was the broad demand for rails, especially the recognized dividend payers. March statements of earnings, some of which were marvelous for their gains, helped to swell the inquiry for these shares. Another helpful feature was the action of the Norfolk and Western directors in declaring increased and extra dividends.

There was only one opinion regarding the splendid statement of the United States Steel Corporation for the first quarter of the year, but the decision of the directors to make no additional disbursement on the common stock gave the trading element an excuse for further selling. Steel's comparative backwardness was attributed mainly to the belief that prominent banking interests had taken over a large amount of stock from foreign holders.

Fear of further European liquidation caused railway shares to yield a measure on their advantage toward the week's end. The foreign situation occasioned fresh caution in banking quarters.

There was a temporary flurry in call money rates, which went to 3½ per cent, the highest rate in more than a year, but this proved to be due to a belated inquiry, rather than scarcity of supply. In fact, reserve centers report continued ease of money rates, but mercantile demands are expected to exert a hardening effect in the coming month.

155,000 TONS OF RAILS ORDERED DURING WEEK

Contracts for 300,000 Tons of Heavy Sections Refused by Mills.

New York, April 30.—During the last five days rail mills booked orders for 155,000 tons of standard and light section rails, of which 20,000 tons are for this year's delivery, half of which tonnage sold at a premium of $5 per ton, will be delivered in July and August. The largest orders placed for delivery in 1917 included 25,000 tons for the Philadelphia and Reading; 25,000 for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, 20,000 additional for the Burlington, 35,000 tons for manufacturers of frogs and switches, 11,000 tons for the Interborough and 8,000 tons for the Virginian railroad.

The rail mills refused contracts for 300,000 tons of heavy sections offered by the transportation companies. On the other hand several railroads refused to place orders because of the premiums demanded for next year's shipment, consequently the full tonnage placed in April fell short of 1,000,000 tons by 45,000 tons. In the last two months the buying of rails of all sorts and kinds has amounted to 1,915,000 tons after making due allowance for duplication of orders.

Other railroad equipment orders placed during the last week of April were unusually small, including 1,600 cars, 36 locomotives and 1,600 tons of structural work. Buying track accessories was heavy.

There was a sharp falling off in steel building work, the fabricating shops reporting orders for only 17,000 tons of steel shapes outside of the 28,000 tons for subway construction which automatically went to the American Bridge company. The other notable contract was 6,000 tons for a shipbuilding plant to be constructed at Chester, Pennsylvania.

Orders were placed for 23,000 tons of steel plates and shapes for the building of seven ocean boats and for 110,000 tons of steel for the manufacture of war munitions. The most notable development in pig iron was the drive made for business by one large furnace interest on the lakes at concessions in prices. Sales amount to about 300,000 tons in all districts. The lack of steamship room and the advance in ocean war risks to three per cent seem effectually to have checked large pig iron sales for export.

The American Steel Wire Company advanced wire nails, barbed wire and staples $2 per ton and plain wire $4 per ton, effective May 1. No change is made in fencing.

M. & M. CLUB WILL MEET THIS EVENING AND REORGANIZE

The M. & M. club will hold a meeting of its members tonight at the club rooms on the top floor of the Candler building for the purpose of reorganizing and selecting a new location for a new M. & M. club.

A meeting was scheduled for last Friday night, but a quorum of members was not present, and official action was postponed until tonight.

The plan to lease the top floor of the Realty Trust company's building (Forsyth building), formerly occupied by the Atlanta club, was abandoned Saturday when it was announced that these quarters had been leased to the Knights of Pythias as a lodge room.

The M. & M. members are now figuring on club rooms in the Ansley hotel or in the Alfriend building.

MEN FIGHT IN CELL AT POLICE STATION; ONE IS BADLY HURT

F. A. Trimbach, aged 22, of 288½ Decatur street, who was arrested Saturday night on a charge of being drunk and disorderly and placed in the station house, got into a fight with Steve Grady, another inmate of the inebriates' cell Sunday. Before the men could be separated by the officers, Trimbach had fallen and broken his arm. He was taken to the Grady hospital for treatment.

PROSPERITY GROWING IN THE UNITED STATES

Federal Reserve Agents Report on April Business. Outlook Good.

Washington, April 30.—The monthly survey of business conditions throughout the country, reported to the federal reserve board by agents in each reserve district and made public tonight, shows that prosperity continued to increase during April in virtually every section of the United States, especially in eastern manufacturing centers. A synopsis of the survey by districts follows:

Boston—Business continues to improve; comparison with a year ago shows that in many cases the improvement is extreme.

New York—The volume of goods produced and sold last month was probably greater than in any March record.

Philadelphia—Trade is brisk; prices are rising; manufacturing plants are working to capacity.

Atlanta—General conditions are unchanged: outlook for future conditions favorable. There is a gradual selling of the cotton crop. Manufacturers are working full time and many are behind on orders.

Richmond—Business continues to show improvement. Farmers are in better financial condition than for some time past.

Cleveland—Earnings of steel companies and concerns in kindred lines continue at an unprecedented rate.

Chicago—Money is hardening slightly. Manufacturers and wholesale merchants are enjoying good business. Fall wheat condition is reported to be unsatisfactory in many localities. Decreased wheat crops in prospect. Volume of general business continues high.

St. Louis—This district is in excellent business condition. Producers and manufacturers are operating to capacity, shipments of merchandise show large increases and the buying power of the general public has increased.

Minneapolis—Wholesale and retail trade are prosperous and industrial conditions excellent. Grain territory will show a ten per cent reduction in wheat acreage for 1916.

Kansas City—Crop conditions have seldom been better at this season. Car shortage has been somewhat relieved. There are no labor disturbances. Price records continue to be broken at all stock markets of the district. There appears to be no cessation in the volume of business.

Dallas—Rains have revived business, which was inclined to be sluggish. In the southwestern section, where no rain fell, some cattle are dying and unless rains come conditions will soon be serious. Cotton is about all marketed. Activity in the old fields has increased about eighty per cent over last year. General trade conditions are good and labor is in much demand.

San Francisco—Lumber prices are up $3 to $5 per thousand feet and orders are greater than mill capacity. Acute shortage has caused unparalleled activity in shipbuilding. Trade and financial conditions appear to be excellent.

THREE CITIES HEAR ENRICO CARUSO SING

would be needed to furnish sufficient light for the photography.

He erected his camera and mercury lamps on tripods in the hallway in front of Caruso's door. He had decided that, in event everything else failed, he would turn on his lights and carry the camera into the star's room when he started singing over the phone. Caruso could not afford to stop singing and, whatever the consequences, Walker would certainly get his picture, which, just like the well-known play, was "the thing."

The operators in the improvised relay station next door were tapping in on San Francisco. A program to precede Caruso's song was in progress it included a message from President Wilson, an address by C. H. Pearsons, president of the San Francisco Press club, followed by an exchange of greetings from the press clubs; a talk between Senator Phelan at Washington and Mayor James Ralph, Jr., of San Francisco.

Three thousand transmitters were supplied listeners in the two cities. A number were also given guests at the Georgian Terrace who had been invited. Caruso was not to sing until 6 o'clock. The camera man got Caruso's secretary out of bed and pleaded with him for a picture, but to no avail. Now desperate, Walker knocked on Caruso's door and roused him. Caruso came in his pajamas, blue silk creations, and a flower-bedecked bathrobe. Drowsy and halting in speech, his first words were: "Did you bring any coffee?"

Pleads With Singer.

"I'm not a waiter," said the movie man. "I am a photographer correspondent for a number of news weeklies, and I have strict orders to get pictures of you singing this morning."

"But I have denied everybody permission."

"I know that. But all the same, I want a shot at you."

"This is a fine time of the morning to wake one from his sleep—is it not?"

Avoiding the issue, Walker said:

"What I want to do is to get a picture of you singing at the telephone before you sing to San Francisco so the photography will not interfere with your long distance song."

"But what does it avail? You get money for it—I, the object, and the source of your money, get nothing!"

"But you can't consider royalties in news pictures. I don't get anything but a straight salary—and probably fired if I don't get the picture."

"I can see no avail!"

"But, Mr. Caruso, look at the publicity—every picture screen in the country will show your face—I couldn't buy it for $10,000."

Caruso pondered, running his fingers over his face.

"Anyway, you ought to see these new mercury lamps in action. They are the most up-to-date manufactured. You probably haven't seen them lighted. It'll be a treat." Walker had struck a new tact. "You're a scientific man. Let me put them up in your room and show you."

Caruso Interested.

Caruso showed an interest in the big lamps that stood side by side in the hallway.

"Oh, very well," he said, "since you have awakened me."

The lamps were placed around the piano in Caruso's room. The "juice" was turned on. The place was flooded with a dazzling, lime-like radiance, which had its calculated effect. No one within sight of the brilliant area could hardly resist stepping into it. The lure of the footlights paled in comparison.

Caruso's sleep grouch now became replaced by a boyish smile. Walker had got his camera and placed it in the doorway in the shadow. The tenor, looking at his secretary and a few friends who had gathered, stepped before the sparkling mercury lamps. Their glow was almost blinding.

"Now, it will take only a moment to take a picture," said Walker at his camera.

Caruso smiled. The camera clicked. "Now, I have that much of a picture—it won't take any time to take up the telephone and sing a little into it," said Walker.

Caruso's secretary sat down to the piano. He got "The Rosary" and placed it upon the music rack. The singer took the detachable phone through which he was to sing over long distance, held it to his lips, and got the clerk downstairs on the other end of the wire. Then he broke into the song. Walker ground off foot after foot of a pictorial report of the incident—the preliminary to the first operatic song sent across the continent in history.

Beams Upon Camera.

Caruso turned and beamed upon the camera. He now smiled at Walker, who smiled back. Presently Walker had ground out enough film.

"That will do," he called as he stopped cranking.

Caruso was plainly disappointed. "No—it is not—let's put on a scene," he suggested, stepping with sprightliness across the room, almost tripping on the hem of his bathrobe.

"Good—a burlesque," offered Walker. The tenor and his secretary were about to stage a farcical rendition of their own "Melancholy Moments in a Star Bedchamber" when San Francisco got on the wire and demanded his song. Caruso sang "The Rosary." Then he sang the encore, an Italian love song. And afterward, while neighborhood roosters crowed in answer to his warbles, he bade the camera man a hearty good night.

As a compliment to Caruso, a phonograph with a record of Caruso's voice was placed at the San Francisco end of the wire and Caruso had the unique experience of hearing himself sing 3,000 miles away.

Caruso's 3,000-mile song was a feature of San Francisco's tenth anniversary celebration of her recovery from the great earthquake and fire which destroyed her.

Caruso and the party which heard him did not retire last night until after his song. He left for New York Sunday afternoon at 12:05 o'clock.

MORTUARY

J. P. Hix.

Dublin, Ga., April 30.—(Special.)—J. P. Hix, a traveling man from Atlanta, died in a hotel here this morning at 9 o'clock after a short illness from heart failure, brought on by acute indigestion. He was here last night and in the best of health, the attack coming on about 8 o'clock this morning. His firm, Morgan-Yates-Wrigley company, of Atlanta, was notified and the body is being held awaiting instructions from his family, who are also in Atlanta.

J. E. Maye, Thomson.

Thomson, Ga., April 30.—(Special.)—The funeral of J. E. Maye was held today at the city cemetery, Rev J. H. Mashburn officiating. Mr. Maye was 77 years old and had been in ill-health for some time. His death occuring early Friday evening. He was a confederate veteran and had made his home here for many years. His wife survives him.

Miss Fannie Martin.

Miss Fannie Martin, aged 48, died on Sunday afternoon at her residence, 82 Newport street. She is survived by two brothers, H. R. Martin, of Atlanta, and A. A. Martin, of Norcross, Ga., and one sister, Miss Lula Martin, of Atlanta. The body was removed to the parlors of Barclay & Brandon.

Charles Albert Wilson.

Charles Albert Wilson, aged 71, a native of Paris, Ill., died at a private hospital early Sunday morning. His body will be sent to Paris Monday. He is survived by his wife, two sisters and three brothers.

R. R. Booth.

R. R. Booth, aged 65, of Kirkwood, died Sunday night at a private hospital. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. H. B. Bearden, of Kirkwood. The body was removed to Greenberg & Bond's chapel.

P. V. Hollingshad.

P. V. Hollingshad, aged 73, died Sunday night at the Soldiers' home. He is survived by one son, residing in Marietta. The body was removed to Poole's chapel.

PELADING FOR MERCY, HE WAS SHOT TO DEATH

Hattiesburg, Miss., April 30.—L. B. Holland, a local merchant, today shot and killed Selma R. McCrorey, day manager of a restaurant. Holland, according to the police, entered the restaurant with a drawn revolver and called upon McCrorey to defend himself, saying "You have insulted my daughter. I am going to kill you." McCrorey, it was stated, began to plead for mercy, but his words were cut short by a bullet from Holland's revolver. Holland is being held at police headquarters on a charge of murder.

Knetzer to Reds.

Boston, April 30.—The Boston Nationals announced tonight the release to Cincinnati of Pitcher Elmer Knetzer.

Most of the shipbuilding yards in Sweden have enough work on hand to keep them busy until the end of next year. Most of the ships are for Swedish firms. Danish and Norwegian builders are also busy on boats for Swedish owners. Thus Sweden's merchant marine will be greatly increased.

COUNTRY-WIDE SYSTEM FOR CHECK COLLECTION

Federal Reserve Board to Extend Plan to All Banks in United States.

Washington, April 30.—The federal reserve board expects to have its countrywide check collection and clearing system, announced yesterday, extended ultimately to all the banks in the United States. In a letter to member banks announcing that the new plan would be effective June 15 and outlining its details, the board says:

"It is the purpose of the federal reserve board to have the collection system developed so as to embrace the collection of checks on non-member banks and private banks, and while this cannot be done immediately, steps will be taken to afford these facilities as rapidly as possible.

"Each federal reserve bank will receive at par checks drawn upon all non-member banks whose checks can be collected at par by the reserve bank. The Federal Reserve banks will prepare a par list of all non-member banks, to be revised from time to time which will be furnished to member banks."

Member banks are warned not to impair their reserves by drawing against items in process of collection under the new system, as such drafts will be charged against reserves.

"Inasmuch as it is essential that the law in respect to the maintenance of required reserves be strictly complied with," says the letter, "the board will fix a penalty to be imposed upon member banks for encroaching upon their reserves. Member banks can at all times keep their reserves intact by rediscounting with their federal reserve bank."

An accurate method of determining the true status of the reserve held by the Federal Reserve banks for each member bank will be adopted, the letter adds, and "will enable the board to apply the penalty for impairment of reserve." In handling items for member banks, the letter says, federal reserve banks will act as agents only will require authority from member banks for so acting and except for negligence will assume no liability."

MOTORISTS ENJOYED TRIP TO COLUMBUS

Bid Farewell to City After Trip Over the Roads of Muscogee.

Columbus, Ga., April 30.—(Special.)—The autoists from Georgia and Alabama cities who came to Columbus on their spring run left for home this afternoon. The largest party came from Montgomery, there being fifteen cars from that city, with an average of four persons to the car.

The Atlanta delegation left early in the afternoon after a delightful visit.

This morning the visitors took trips over the Muscogee county roads.

Odd Fellows Celebrate.

Columbus, Ga., April 30.—(Special.)—Headed by George O. Berry, past grand master of the grand lodge, Columbus Odd Fellows attended service in a body at St. Paul's Methodist church today, celebrating the ninety-seventh anniversary of the founding of the order. The four local lodges were largely represented. Rev. S. B. McKinney, a prominent Texas minister, delivered the sermon.

Auto Kills Bird.

Columbus, Ga., April 30.—(Special.)—Julian Lane, besides being considered the best road builder in the state of Georgia, now has another claim for fame, and in the last claim he secured it while traveling over one of the roads that he has constructed.

Mr. Lane with a party met the Atlanta tourists Saturday afternoon when they came to Columbus, and on leading them into the city, ran in to and killed a flying bird. He was joked by friends saying that he overtook the bird, while he states that the bird ran into him, striking against the windshield, breaking the bones of its body.

Clubs and Saloons Close.

Columbus, Ga., April 30.—(Special.) Every club and near beer saloon in Columbus closed last night, the former closing at the regular time, and the latter closing in many instances long before the closing time, as the stock on hand was sold out.

Columbus is the dryest today that it has been in its history, although it is said that there is a year's supply bought and stored in Columbus, to be sold in violation of the law. The police started at once to enforcing the law, and Chairman Henry B. Sheridan, of the police commission, says that they are going to keep it enforced.

MORGENTHAU SUFFERS FROM APPENDICITIS

New York, April 30.—Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, was stricken with appendicitis at his home here today. His physicians said tonight that his condition was not serious, and that he probably would not have to undergo an operation.

MERRIMAN IS KILLED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

Orangeburg, S. C., April 30.—Ashley E. Merriman, a senior law student at the University of South Carolina, Columbia, was instantly killed at 5 o'clock this afternoon when an automobile in which he and eight other young people were riding crashed into a tree seven miles from here. Julian Wolfe, of Orangeburg, suffered a broken leg. None of the other members of the party was seriously injured. The car was completely demolished.
